DC Stands Firm on Garbage Fees

The rate hike given to the Daly City Scavenger Co. last May is "reasonable and justified" City Manager David Rowe of Daly City told the City Council Monday night.

Rowe's statement on the issue was in response to questions by critics of the rate boost who also had questioned whether accountant Richard T. Dwyer has a conflict of interest because he audits not only the city's annual report but the scavenger company's books as well.

Dwyer, in rebuttal to the charges, said he has been in business in Daly City for 20 years and has always conducted his affairs in an ethical manner.

Harold Calder, part of a bloc of residents who have bombarded the city with questions regarding the financial status of the scavenger company, said he has nothing against the company's six partners making a "reasonable profit."

"My question is: 'What is a reasonable profit'?" Calder asked the council.

He pointed to several charts which he said disclose that the partners made almost a half million dollars in profits over and above their salaries and fringe benefits during a two-year period — 1974 and 1975.

Dwyer argued that this was a misleading assumption and that the figures being used were gross revenues before taxes.

During the two year period cited, $159,338 was paid directly to the federal and state governments for taxes, he said. That left $155,668 to be divided among the six partners, or $12,974 per year for each of the partners, according to Dwyer.

And while Rowe's investigation of the company revealed that the partners had not put any cash into an equipment replacement and maintenance fund (as stipulated under its franchise agreement with the city) repairs and replacement of equipment had been made.

The scavenger company attracted attention and criticism last May when the council unanimously granted a 30 per cent collection rate hike — before the company's employes had settled a wage dispute.

The fact that Councilman McRobert Stewart, brother-in-law of scavenger company president Al Sereni, participated in the vote granting that rate hike brought verbal charges of conflict from Calder and other critics of the increase.

Monday, the council again paried critics and backed its earlier decision to grant the hike, after listening to both sides in the dispute.

The council, however, tightened its grip on the scavenger operations by ordering the books of Serv-U-Debris Co., an affiliate of the scavenger company, to be audited.

The city also decided to retain the nationwide accounting firm of Ernst & Ernst to provide revised revenue and expenditure projections after the proposed Garbage transfer station has been constructed and haul cost experience can be obtained and evaluated.

The state Water Quality Control Board has ordered the Mussel Rock dump closed on or before Aug. 15.

The company is now looking for a site to build a transfer station where local garbage trucks can transfer loads into large trucks, which will haul the refuse to a centrally located dump site.

Former San 'Mateo County Superior Court Judge Frank Blum, now a law partner with Paul Hupf, represented the scavenger company at the Monday meeting.

Blum was city attorney some 20 years ago when the scavenger company agreements first were drawn up.

Monday was his first appearance before the council on behalf of the scavengers. In earlier meetings, Hupf, a former Daly City councilman and also a former city attorney, appeared.

Blum acknowledged there had been "errors" in the accounting methods employed by the company concerning the Serv-U-Debris operations.

He invited the city to "take a look at the books"

Colma Becoming 'Paradise' for The Developer?

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The quiet cemetery town of Colma is being turned into a developers' paradise overnight.

Massive development started with a single pipe attached to a Daly City water line about 10 year ago.

It has grown since into a complex of retail stores, auto shops and office buildings that last year produce a staggering $650,000-plus in tax revenues for Colma.

The latest proposal before the City Council is for another commercial development right next to City Hall, on lands that have been in use for more than half a century as nurseryland.

An Environmental Impact Report (EIR), filed with the city last month by George S. Nolte & Associates, is for a retail commercial center capable of housing shops and offices on 10.6 acre site along the El Camino Real.

The EIR even hints that, if approved, this complex may spark development of other commercial projects on properties now owned and reserved for use as cemeteries.

What angers critics of the development is that most property in the town of Colma has enjoyed a tax break over the years, because the lands have been held as future burial sites.

Now, with a simple majority vote of the council, these same properties can be converted into giant developments by rezoning and granting variances.

E. N. Maisel, a Michigan developer, wants to put up the shopping complex on the site of Pacific Nurseries — agricultural land for the past 66 years.

Maisel has spread the word that the center's major occupant will be a K-Mart discount store.

Colma already has several such "discount stores" in its Serra Center, a stone's throw from the proposed El Camino Real location.

This newspaper learned K-Mart also has "feelers" out in at least two other locations — in South San Francisco and in Daly City.

At a council meeting that failed to materialize last week in Colma, because only two of the city's five councilmen attended, James Paul Greene, an attorney representing a "mystery client," opposed the Colma development, calling the attempt "spot zoning."

Green, who refused to reveal the name of his client, said he would contest in the courts, the development, if approved.

The issue was expected to be brought up again at a special council meeting Wednesday.

Supporters of the project claim the complex will generate another $100,000 in revenues for Colma.

A Plea for Peninsulans to Conserve Water

By DUANE SANDUL

Peninsulans may face a mandatory water rationing program before summer if a voluntary conservation progam is not successful within 30 days, the general manager of the San Francisco Water Department announced Monday.

Ken Boyd told a meeting of the Bay Area Water Users Association in Redwood City that he will ask the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to approve a ration program, with penalties for violators, if a 10 per cent conservation program is not successful.

Much of San Mateo County is supplied by San Francisco's Hetch Hetchy water supply, as is San Francisco, Sunnyvale, Mountain View, Hayward and Milpitas.

Boyd Tuesday took his voluntary conservation plan before the San Francisco PUC, expecting approval. The San Francisco PUC governs water rates and actions of the water department.

"We're short of water but not to the point that we cannot drink it," Boyd told the association comprising managers of several Bay Area water districts and companies.

"It's to the point now that reservoirs are dipping to dangerous levels, and the inflow at Hetch Hetchy is down 60 per cent this January compared with last," Boyd said.

The manager produced a chart which illustrated that local reservoirs today have a storage of 34 billion gallons, with a capacity for 78 billion gallons.

Without conservation measures, the storage could reach a low of 15 billion gallons by March of 1978.

Conversely, a 10 per cent conservation program could leave the storage at 27 billion gallons.

Even that, Boyd indicated, represents a crisis.

"There is a dead storage which has to remain (in the reserves) for treatment purposes," he added. He did not pinpoint that level.

If reserves dip too low, water at the tap would be chloric and dirty "regardless of what we do to treat it," Boyd explained.

Pacifica Won't Pay for Census

Disappointed with the population figure reached in a recent census and skeptical of the census methods, the Pacifica City Council voted 3-2 Monday night to withold payment to the state-appointed census supervisor.

The council has asked City Atty. Gloria Sheid to determine if the $1,600 due to Jim McAndrews of the state Department of Finance must be paid.

Councilman Sidney Lorvan and Mayor Janice Fulford opposed the motion, saying McAndrews shouldn't be denied his stipend because of possible flaws in the state's survey techniques.

The decision was reached after the council heard a Pacifica resident who was one of the paid census takers question the accuracy of the survey.

"We made up a lot of people," Rosanna Lopez said.

Pacificans have been suggesting for several years that the population of their coastal city has reached, and perhaps even surpassed, 40,000.

A population increase has advantages for small cities such as Pacifica — including a $20 a person rebate from the state.

Hoping to discover a population increase that would mean more money, the City Council last year approved spending $22,000 for a special census organized by the Department of Finance.

Instead of a population boom, however, the census result revealed only a slight increase.

The total population in the special census is 37,311, only slightly more than the 1970 federal census figure of 36,020.

For the past year, the city has been listing its population as 39,002 — a Department of Finance estimate.

Assistant City Manager Don Jeffers said the city can keep the higher state estimate and reject the census figures entirely, although the nose-counting cost $22,000.

Photographs Donated to DC

Prominent Daly City civic leader and businessman Frank "Toto" Spardarella was praised Monday by the City Council for his recent donation of 55 photography materworks.

The famed photographs, from such artists as Peter Henry Emerson, Ansel Adams and Gayle Anderson, will be on permanent display at the main library soon, according to Librarian Samuel Chandler.

Spadarella began collecting the masterworks more than 25 yeas ago as a hobby.

About 10 years ago, he decided to take up the hobby of photography himself, and has since won honors as an accomplished photographer.

"My only stipulation," Spadarella said," is that the city display these photographs for the enjoyment of all the people. I don't want them hidden away in some closet."

Chandler has accepted the display and told Spadarella the prints soon would go on public display at the city's main library.

The exhibit also may be shown at some of the other libraries around the city, Chandler said.

Group Gets Tapes

The minor storm of conflict generated by tape recordings and enveloping a group of Broadmoor residents has subsided.

Police District Commissioner Dean Davenport last week turned over copies of some 120 minutes of a taped town hall meeting to the group.

Davenport, secretary of the three-man Police District board, had the tapes copied for $8.39 and turned them over to Mrs. Randy Wall and Mrs. Sue Johnson, representing a group of homeowners.

Earlier, Davenport had refused to hand over the original tapes to the group.

"I paid for the tapes. They were made on my recorder. And I even bought the batteries (that power the unit)," Davenport said when asked earlier why he had rejected the women's request.

Davenport then had offered to have the tapes copied and turned over to the group for an estimated $300.

This figure was later dramatically lowered to slightly more than $8, after Davenport contacted a technician who was able to make the copies.

The tapes were made during a public session at Garden Village Elementary School, when the plight of the police district following

Recommendations: City Council Agrees

Four Pacifica council members did the seemingly impossible Monday night. They unanimously agreed on an official position regarding Route 380 and other highway improvements.

The council has been arguing for years over the state's proposal for a freeway linking the coastal city to San Bruno, where the existing portion of Route 380 is left dangling in the air.

The majority of the council always has opposed the freeway proposal and meetings to discuss the freeway plan have been sparked by angry clashes.

But the California Highway Commission soon will consider dropping the freeway plans from its books,

Insurance: Broadmoor Probably Will Have to Pay More; Meeting Set

By RICK SULLIVAN

Broadmoor Police Commissioners were advised at a Friday afternoon special meeting that a $1 million police insurance policy could cost them as much as $18,000 a year, almost four times what they paid for the same coverage last year.

The commissioners searched in vain through their annual budget to find any extra money. They found none; in fact their brief budget check revealed they may have trouble meeting current expenses this fiscal year.

"Right now I don't see any way we can come up with $18,000," said Commissioner John McCloskey.

The commissioners decided to meet again next Thursday for a thorough budget evaluation.

Since the police insurance coverage for the small North County community was cancelled Jan. 1. Daly City has been providing both an "umbrella" policy for the special district and police protection services under a joint agreement.

Meanwhile, the commissioners are hunting desperately for a company to write a $1 million insurance policy for the small department.

Commissioner Dean O. Davenport told his two other colleagues today that the Lavinson Bros. Insurance Co. had found a carrier which would write a policy for $18,000.

Broadmoor paid some $5,000 for the coverage last year.

He said the policy would provide general liability coverage, false arrest, malicious prosecution protection, and that the police vehicle covering would be written under assigned risk. It would leave bodily injury and property damage.

Davenport emphasized that there would be a $1,000 deductible for all claims.

A check of the district's annual budget showed that $102,025.71 remains to pay the bills from January until June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

Additionally, Davenport reminded the commission that it may have to "come up with some extra money" to carry the district through the months of July through December. It isn't until December that the district will receive its first property tax revenue installment for the next fiscal year.

McCloskey suggested that the district commission consider contacting the County Board of Supervisors to determine if it would approve a loan to carry the district through the five month "dry period."

The commissioners ultimately decided that they "could not afford to committ themselves" to a policy that they are not sure they can pay for.

Davenport said that although Levinson indicated he needed an answer on the policy as soon as possible, he would ask that the broker give the district a little more time to look for available funds in the budget.

The Thursday meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at 388 88th St., Daly City.

of the debris box company — one of several operating in Daly City.

When Dwyer, recipient of much personal criticism during the current dispute, because of his dual role as accountant for both the city and scavengers, appeared to explain the books of the company, he scoffed at his critics and scolded those who challenged his business ethics.

If these critics have proof of a conflict, why don't they file complaints with the proper authorities? Dwyer asked?

"I'm quite upset that a mere handful (of people) can cause such turmoil," Dwyer said. "And I'm tired of being the whipping boy in this act."

Dwyer later said he felt the criticism was being leveled by someone with political ambitions, perhaps aiming for a seat on the council in the next municipal elections.

Rowe's other recommendations included:

That the Serv-U-Debris company continue to exist as a non-exclusive entity, but its profits be included in periodic reports to City Hall.

The debris box company pay the city $3.25 per box as a dumping fee at Mussell Rock.

No dividends will be paid the six partners until monies are placed into the equipment reserve fund (about $126,186 per year).

Freeway

because it doesn't have the money to finance the $50 million freeway.

The recommendation to the state commission is that:

- Route 380 not be officially rescinded until the state Department of Transportation completes a comprehensive study of all the alternative east-west routes.
- Highway 1 improvements must be included in the study. The minimum requirements should be additional traffic lanes for emergency and mass transit vehicles and multiple left turn lanes at all major intersections from Westborough Boulevard to Devil's Slide.
- The most logical place for a new east-west route would be at the south end of the city.
- Sharp Park Road should be placed in the state highway system and made substantially safer.
- Property known as the Orchid Farm, purchased for the freeway right-of-way, should be sold and returned to Pacifica's jurisdiction and rolls.

cancellation of insurance was discussed.

At the meeting, the commissioners had hoped to explain to the people of Broadmoor services Daly City police would provide under a joint agreement, and how much the services would cost.

Certain passages of the meeting were unintelligible because of "scraping noises, as if someone was rubbing his hand over the microphone," Mrs. Johnson said.

Mrs. Johnson, wife of Police Commissioner Wayne Johnson, said her group was unable to understand what they considered to be "important discussions" on the subject of Daly City-Broadmoor police services because of the interference.

Colma

enjoys a commodity that is in short supply in North San Mateo Countys vacant land suitable for building.

There are no city taxes in Colma.

Roads are in good shape. Colma has a full-time police force and a better-than-average volunteer fire department.

Water services and sanitary services are excellent, and are cheaper than many other communities.

Colma also has an estimated $1 million in cash reserves, practically unheard of nowadays when other cities are hiking taxes and tightening belts to save a dollar.

City Engineer Ed Smith recently reviewed the EIR for the new center. In a brief two-page report, he noted the proposed development, "violates both land use and open space elements" of the general plan.

"It is questionable whether further commercial development should be allowed along El Camino Real, where only minor cemetery-oriented commercial activities exist," Smith said.

The EIR pointed out the possibility of connecting the area's sewage lines to South San Francisco and using gravity flow to that city's treatment plant.

There is, however, a pump station operated by the North San Mateo County Sanitation District located in Daly City that could handle the development's wastewater, the EIR noted.

But Smith doesn't like the idea of perpetuating the sewage pump system for the city.

It is expensive and inhibits its expansion in certain areas, the engineer said.

Whatever the decision of the Colma council, the quiet cemetery city is now beginning to show the consequences of development:

Long lines of cars (other than passing funeral processions), accompanying smog.

They Gave Him Back Like Ill-Fitting Shoes

By JANET REINKA
(First of Two Parts)

Everybody likes David. Everybody, it seems, except the people he has lived with.

David's story is unbelievably sad. Unbelievably, thanks to a Pacifica couple, it has a happy ending. Sadly, there are lots of Davids in the county still living for a happy ending.

Ten years ago, at birth, David's mother gave him up for adoption. A nice young couple — who already had a daughter who was bright and who they adored — adopted David.

But he wasn't as quick and adorable as their own little girl, so three years later, they gave him back, the way one returns shoes that don't fit or a chair that's the wrong color.

But David was adopted again, after four years in two different foster homes. His new family kept him a year. The father didn't like David as much as he thought he would; so, David, for the third time, was one of the children the county Department of Social Services had available for adoption.

David wanted desperately to belong to somebody. When the foster family he lived with next took him to church on Sundays, he would go up to people and ask them if they knew of somebody who would adopt him. A curly haired blond with bright brown eyes, he could not understand why no one wanted him.

David's luck finally changed.

A year later a Pacifica couple who had three teen-agers, and had always wanted another child without the hassle of 2 a.m. diaper changings, was matched up with David by adoption workers.

Today, two years later, his parents say he seems well-adjusted and knows they love him.

"People say we're such good people (to take him), and that makes me angry," his mother said. "I did this not to be a good person, I did it for me. If David weren't here, we'd be all alone."

There are at present 14 children for whom the county adoption agency is seeking homes and 40 others not yet free for adoption but whom the agency hopes to free — usually by getting the parents to relinquish them, or, when the parents fade out of the sitatuion, getting them freed for adoption by court order.

Most of them are older or handicapped children, who in the years before the pill and legal abortion when there were more babies available would have had little chance of finding homes.

The details of "David's" situation have been slightly altered to protect his identity and his name is not David.

But most of the children the county has available for adoption come from backgrounds similar to his: drug addict or alcoholic parents, a history of physical abuse, parents in and out of jail or mental hospitals and a series of stays at foster homes.

They had been considered "unadoptable" and weren't even mentioned to prospective parents, according to Richard A. Rikkers, district director of the Children's Home Society.

That attitude is changing, he said, as well as the court's definition of how little contact a natural parent can maintain before the court steps in and frees the child for adoption.

But, with some parents who have been approved to adopt older children and are just waiting for the right "match," Rikkers says he believes that counties should be more aggressive about freeing children in foster homes for adoption.

The matter received a lot of attention recently when a 17-year-old Alameda youth sued the county social service agency because it told his mother he would be placed up for adoption.

Instead, he went from one foster home to another.

"There are lots of kids, we believe, in foster care programs who have no longer any permanent meaningful ties to their own families," Rikkers said. "These could be freed for adoption and agencies could find homes for them if someone would be willing to take legal action to terminate those rights.

"Frequently, kids who are abandoned become wards of the court and are in foster care. Nobody makes the decision that parental rights should be terminated so the child could have a permanent home."

That has been true in the past, according to Selma Hemiup of the San Mateo County adoption agency, but it is already getting easier for parents to be matched up with children.

SELMA HEMIUP OF COUNTY AGENCY
Match-ups becoming easier

"We're really looking hard to find kids (in foster homes) who could be freed," she said. "Since there are fewer infants, there's more time to work with older children."

Some parents say they are discouraged by repeated warnings that the adoption process can take a long time — usually about two years. That is because the adoption workers are looking for the right "combination" of parent and child, Mrs. Hemiup said, and it would be unfair to give the families false hopes.

What the adoption agency wants is many more prospective parents to offer more "combinations," people ready and waiting to take a child once he is ready.

What kind of people are they looking for?

Mrs. Hemiup smiled broadly.

Not saints. Not ones with spotless homes. Not people who want their children to be just like them.

"To me, the ideal parent is one who doesn't look at the kid's problems (common ones are bedwetting or being slow in school) as problems," she said. "The solution is a washer and dryer or extra tutoring."

Potential parents are quizzed about their friends: Are they a varied group or people just like themselves?

Do they seem, in the case of a couple, well-adjusted to each other?

Single persons, Mrs. Hemiup said, sometimes make good "older brother or sister" parents to older children.

Is the house spotless? Would a mess-making, knick-knack-breaking child be tolerated?

Sometimes the child is slow in school or slow to trust the parent. Can the parents live with that?

"Sometimes the child has lived through some pretty sordid things," she said. "They want to share a lot of hurtful memories. This is hard for the parents.

"They wonder if they are up to the problems, and they come in to the agency wondering what to do. Usually their natural reaction — listening, talking, hugging — is best."

Mrs. Hemiup said there are still more black newborns available than black parents to adopt them. Sometimes white parents, discourage about ever getting a newborn, consider adopting an older child instead but are fearful that the child's personality is already formed.

"A lot of things are not formed," she said. "A child can change. But even a newborn born to natural parents has his own personality. For people who must have a child to rear in their own image, they probably should not adopt."

Often people who already have had children or teachers are good adoptive parents because they know the difference between normal behavior and a tough kid.

"Kids available for adoption are probably not much different than other kids," she said. "And the people who adopt them are really neat people."

Officer's Trial is Scheduled

A San Bruno police officer charged with receiving stolen property from the Skyline College campus has been bound over to Superior Court in Redwood City for trial.

Officer Terry Johnson has been suspended indefinitely without pay from the police force since charges were filed in November.

Johnson appeared before Judge Charles Becker in South San Francisco Municipal Court Monday for a continued preliminary hearing in his case.

The police officer was charged with receiving stolen property while he worked as a security guard one or two nights a week during off-duty hours last year.

Police Chief Russell Cunningham has said Johnson volunteered for the job. The college pays the city to provide guards every week night.

Skyline grounds supervisor Lee Neely identified lighting rods and a plumbing auger in court as those which Johnson allegedly took home with him. A Skyline custodian identified a vacuum cleaner as coming from the college.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Cliff Cretan said Johnson allegedly took goods valued at $500.

Johnson has been ordered to appear in Superior Court on Feb. 1.

Petrini's FISH & POULTRY

THE GOURMET By Petrini's Presents

CHICKEN AND DUMPLINGS

3½ to 4 lb. stewing chicken cut into serving pieces. Place cut up chicken on a rack in a heavy kettle, add giblets, 4 or 5 cups chicken base or stock, 1 med. size onion, carrot, celery stalk and a sprig of thyme. Cover and simmer gently 3 to 4 hours or until meat begins to loosen from bones. Add more chicken stock if needed. During the last 20 min. of cooking skim off excess fat and add 1 tsp. salt. Now use the following dumpling recipe:

¼ tsp. bouquet garni beef • ⅛ tsp. salt • ⅓ cup milk plus 2 tbls. • ½ tsp. parsley • 1 cup biscuit mix • ¼ tsp. sugar

Combine all ingredients except biscuit mix. Mix well and stir into biscuit mix to make a soft dough. Drop spoonfuls onto chicken and replace cover tightly and simmer 20 min. without lifting cover; arrange chicken on a platter; surround with dumplings. Makes 8 dumplings. Serves 4 to 6 people.

In Laguna Salada Schools

Pyramid Alternatives Report Shows Heroin Use

Five per cent of eighth grade and four per cent of seventh grade students in the Laguna Salada Union School District have used heroin.

That is one of the startling findings in a survey presented to the LSUSD Board of Trustees Thursday night.

The survey, conducted by a Pacifica-based non-profit organization called Pyramid Alternatives, is mainly concerned with alcohol abuse by students.

But the findings also reveal that 30 per cent of students in the district have used or are using hallucinogens; eight per cent have tried opiates (with another eight per cent on tranquilizers) and nine per cent are using barbituates or sleeping pills.

The figures increase sharply in what Pyramid calls the nation's number one drug problem — alcohol. Sixty-two per cent of students (all in the seventh and eighth grades) drink.

Male and female alike consume alcohol on a regular basis and 12 per cent combine drink with other drugs on occasion.

Twenty-six percent of the 726 pupils surveyed consider their use of alcohol as a problem. (The survey took a 45 per cent sample of the total 1;624 student enrollment.)

The district contracted with Pyramid Alternatives to provide alcohol-related education and counseling during the 1976-77 school year. The organization has been providing similar services in San Mateo County for the past four years.

The survey, entitled "Drinking Behavior, Attitudes and Problems Among Seventh and Eight Graders of the Laguna Salada Union School District," was conducted before the program began.

A post-survey to determine results of the counseling will be conducted with the same sample and control group (those not receiving instruction.)

Pyramid executive director Dr. George Torney and Juvenile Coordinator Paulette Bellis were thanked by Board Chairman Wil Frye when they presented the survey results Thursday night.

The State of California has made it mandatory for school districts to provide instruction on the use and abuse of alcohol.

In the past this instruction has been provided by teachers who District Supt. James Brien says are not overly familiar with the subject.

The board was told that response among parents has been "overwhelmingly positive and supportive" of the program.

YMCA Expanding

The Peninsula YMCA is expanding its services.

Because of increasing programs in San Mateo, and a growing interest in Pacifica, classes are being started at the Pedro Valley Elementary School there.

The classes, beginning Jan. 31, will be movement exploration programs for pre-school age children, and a parent and adult fitness.

For the adult fitness program, the YMCA will first evaluate your present physical condition. Then a fitness "perscription" is given so you can improve your heart and lung condition, flexibility, and overall body tone. These classes meet on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings.

Your child is growing and developing everytime he/she move. Help this growth progress by enrolling him/her in a movement exploration class offered by the Y. As your child increases his/her sense of balance, coordination, flexibility and body awareness, you learn with him/her too. Share with your child this fun way of learning.

For further information call the Peninsula YMCA.

Spindrift Players Continue 'Shaw'

The Pacifica Spindrift Players will continue their season with "Shaw on the Sexes"; three one-act plays by George Bernard Shaw, opening Feb. 4, at Oddstad Center, 1050 Crespi Drive, Pacifica, and continuing Friday and Saturday evenings through February 19. Curtain is 8:30 p.m.

The Plays are "How He Lied to Her Husband," starring Janis Hashe, Jon Henn and Rick Gluckstern; "Village Wooing," starring Frank O'Neill and Laura Breedon-Simkins; and "Overruled" starring Jon Henn, Janis Hashe, Rick Gluckstern and Laura Breedon-Simkins.

All three of these comedies are directed by Frank O'Neill. The entire cast, with the exception of O'Neill, are newcomers to the Pacifica stage, but all have had numerous acting credits.

Tickets are 2.50 for adults; $1.50 students and seniors; and $1 for children. Group rates are available.

Church Officers Elected

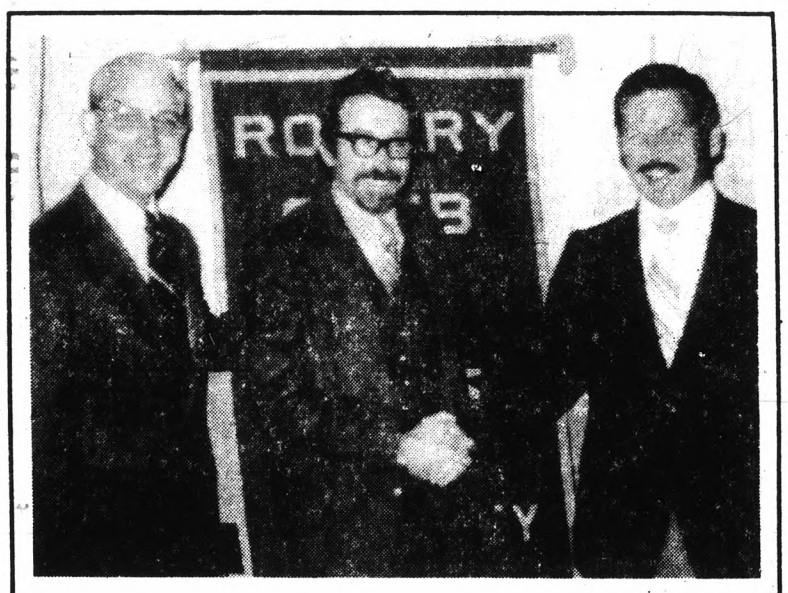
Church officers were elected at the annual congregational meeting of St. Martin's Episcopal Church, 777 Southgate Ave., Daly City, Jan. 16.

New vestry members are Ken Brugge, Anita Dwing, Art Forslund, Chris Gilliland, and Millard Hahs. Newly elected delegates to deanery convocation and convention are Bill Hinshaw, Kay Hoover, and George Prock; alternates are Mark Bowdish, Art Forslund and Caroline Hinshaw.

Other members of the vestry are Caroline Hinshaw, Denis Marinos, Chris Nielsen, Maidee Ellis and Mark Bowdish. Chris Burgett is senior warden for 1977.

At the meeting, Fr. Timothy S. Rudolph gave a brief "State of the Parish" address, and thanked outgoing vestry members Betty Casey, Roy Higenbotham, Kay Hoover, and Capt. Charles Howe, who completed three-year terms.

Father Rudolph will lead a class on "Studying the Bible" Wednesday evenings at 8:15 p.m., following the 7:30 service.



ROTARY SPEAKER

Rotary Club President Dave Macabee (right) congratulates speaker John Crowley (center) at a recent Wednesday luncheon meeting at Bianchini's in Daly City. The day's program chairman James Wyatt looks on. The speaker is the program director of the alcohol care unit at Mary's Help Hospital. He stated that there are 17 beds locally for this service, with the average patient stay being four days. Counselling is given to the patient and to the related family. Encouragement is given for patients to join Alcoholics Anonymous.

The Regent

"A Last Minute Job Meeting for Graduating Seniors" was held on Jan. 18. The purpose of the meeting was to provide the 25 mid-year graduates with a final chance to gather career information and sharpen job finding skills. The program was planned by William Wood, Career Education Coordinator, at Serramonte High School.

The students met for a two-hour presentation in the school Career Center. After greetings from acting principal, Dion DuBois, the seniors were divided into small groups for 20 minute sessions.

Gerry Maxwell, Career Planning teacher at Serramonte, led one group in a discussion of their career goals and future job planning.

Marilyn Beckstrom and Peter Zachariou, teachers of the P.A.C.E. program (Practical Adult Career Education), directed two groups in interest testing, resume writing, and values clarification.

Marilyn Bjorn, Career Center Resource aide, assisted the seniors in completing their career folders and finding career and college information.

MULTI-ETHNIC DAY, a Serramonte tradition in which an afternoon is set aside for various displays, demonstrations, and food sampling of different ethnic groups will be coming on March 30.

Anyone interested in participating in Multi-Ethnic Day should see Student Body Vice President Cheryl Moses or Student Activities Director Bernadette Crnich.

Jan. 17 a 4-minute presentation called "Tuned In." a brief history of broadcasting, was presented to Serramonte students during their lunch period by radio station KFRC and Pepsi Cola.

The show, which included a two-screen movie show and live narration, was followed by the appearance of a KFRC disc jockey, John Mac Flanagan.

The students of Serramonte would like to thank those who made it possible for them to see this excellent presentation.

A SPECIAL THANK YOU goes to Serramonte's Black Student Union for renting an excellent movie that many students were able to enjoy in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday.

Let's do it again! The drama students of Serramonte are preparing to perform "West Side Story" for their spring musical. If you didn't see "Mame," Serramonte's production last spring, don't let "West Side Story" pass you by!

SERRAMONTE HIGH SCHOOL has a business club. The purpose of this club is to promote interest in business-oriented careers. The Business Club operates a student store which is open to all students before school and during lunch periods.

Another phase of the Business Club involves computer programming. Out of the student store's profit, the club maintains a computer terminal. Free use of the computer terminal is available to all members. If anyone is interested in becoming a member, they should come to the Business Club's next meeting or contact Serramonte Business Teacher Fran McCormack.

Another club at Serramonte is the Oriental Club. Oriental Club President Johnny Law says that the club is currently raising funds for a club outing as well as planning trips that will inform them of the work their ancesters did for the United States. They are also working on their Multi-Ethnic Day booth and plans for the up-coming Serramonte Carnival.

The officers of the Oriental Club are president Johnny Law, secretary Lana Dong, and treasurer Janice Lee.

Other members are Ron Chang, Ty Cheng, Peggy Chling, Arlene Cruz, Lorna Cruz, Elaine Eng, Mailene Eng, Ginny Hom, Bobbie Humphreys, Jeanne Humphreys, Cheryl Keh, Greg Keh, Diana Law, Janey Limb, Shirley Ong, Kurtis Wong, Payton Wong, Chris Yamamoto, Alex Yee, David Yee, Lisa Yee, David Young and Matthew Young.

Anti-Crime Week Set in Daly City

The Daly City-Colma Exchange Club announced that James Tucker will be the chairman of club's annual Crime Prevention week. Tucker will be assisted by Waldo Smith, former chairman of the event.

The week will officially begin Feb. 7, at a luncheon hosted by the Daly City-Colma Exchange Club and will conclude on Feb. 13 at an awards banquet honoring the police officer of the year from the cities of Daly City and Colma.

Crime prevention is everyone's job, Tucker said. We must all become familiar with basic preventive measures.

A juvenile probation officer, Tucker stated that in 1976 the police nationally made 9,300,000 arrests.

Of those arrested, 57 per cent were under the age of 25. Nationally the number of young people under the age of 15 amounted to 9 per cent of the total arrests; in suburban communities that percentage was approximately 11 per cent.

Property crimes continue to be the most difficult to solve, Tucker said. One of the current programs to combat crime is the operation I.D. program. It and other programs will be explained and demonstrated at the information booth to be set up at the Westlake shopping center on Feb. 12-13.

Citizens desiring further information can contact Exchangite James Tucker or by writing The Exchange Club of Daly City-Colma, P.O. Box 1065, Daly City 94017.

SAINTLY PRIZE

This statue of St. Francis crafted by artist Dorcas Rosenfeld (left) will be the door prize at the Community Arts and Crafts Show sponsored by the South San Francisco Women's Club. It will be from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Feb. 4 at the club, 470 Grand Ave. Tickets are $2.50 and proceeds benefit the South San Francisco Unified School District's Art Department. Looking on is Emma Martinelli.

Three One-Acts Set By Pacifica Players

The Pacifica Spindrift Players will continue their season with "Shaw on the Sexes", three one-act plays by George Bernard Shaw, opening Feb. 4 at Oddstad Center, 1050 Crespi Drive, Pacifica, and continuing Friday and Saturday evenings through Feb. 19. Curtain is 8:30 p.m.

The plays are: "How He Lied to Her Husband," starring Janis Hashe, Jon Henn and Rick Gluckstern; "Village Wooing", starring Frank O'Neill and Laura Breedon-Simkins; and "Overruled" starring Jon Henn, Janis Hashe, Rick Gluckstern and Laura Breedon-Simkins.

All three of these comedies are directed by Frank O'Neill. The entire cast, with the exception of O'Neill, are newcomers to the Pacifica stage, but all have had numerous acting credits.

Tickets are $2.50 for adults; $1.50 students and seniors; and $1 for children. Group rates are available.

Daly City Marine Completes Training

Marine Private Jaime D. Ybona, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marino V. Ybona of 775 Niantic Ave., Daly City, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

A 1976 graduate of Jefferson High School, he joined the Marine Corps in September 1976.

Africa 'Friends' Topic

The Continent of Africa will be the topic of the Friends of the Daly City Library gathering tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Community room of the Serramonte Library.

Francis and Jean Thorn will share their collection of slides with the membership and guests.

Mrs. John Connolly is the program chairman.

MRS. VIRGINIA TIERNEY will be installed president of the Daly City Host Lionesses Jan. 29.

Others to be installed at the meeting in Lyle's in South San Francisco are Mrs. Pat Hansen, the vice president; Mrs. Betty Harper, the secretary and Mrs. Jeanne Tomesello, treasurer.

Louanne Heath

ONLY FOUR MORE days are left in the annual Girl Scout cookie sale. Be sure and buy some extra packages to freeze for later use!

THE MARY'S HELP HOSPITAL Guild is sponsoring a special sale of lingerie and robes in the hospital's gift shop on Friday.

Proceeds in the giift shop are used by the guild to provide special equipment and materials for the hospital. Guild member, Helen Corbett, is in charge of the shop.

HEART OF FASHION tickets went on sale Saturday in the Our Lady of Mercy Parish hall and the response assured that this year's event will be a stellar occasion with the Grand Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel filled to capacity with ladies lunching and viewing the latest in spring fashions.

Mrs. Harry Lindner and Mrs. Robert Drucker are the chairpersons this year and Mrs. John Loughran and Mrs. Robert Reich are in charge of reservations.

Questions concerning the February 5 gala should be directed to Mrs. Loughran or Mrs. Reich.

MRS. ALBERT TEGLIA, president of the North Peninsula Auxiliary of the Florence Crittenton Services, was hostess for a meeting of the group's Executive Board in her home and presided as the final arrangements were made for the unit's fashion show and luncheon.

Mrs. Nanda Stewart and Mrs. Lee Stringer are co-chairing the fund raiser which has been titled "Hearts and Flowers".

Plans call for models to wear fashions from The Little Daisy Shop in Serramonte for the show in the Westlake Community Center Feb. 12.

Mrs. Alvin Beall is chairman of the reservations committee and will answer questions concerning seating and tickets. Those modeling the spring fashions will include Mrs. Bunny Lycett, Mrs. Corrine Beall, Mrs. Berta Macklin, Mrs. Lorraine Sandefur, Mrs. Daris Tonini and Mrs. Stewart. Mrs. Peggy Crandall will do the commentary.

DALY CITY'S Mrs. Janet Holden was guest performer at the January meeting of the Northern California Multiple Sclerosis Auxiliary luncheon held at Laguna Honda Hospital in San Francisco.

The auxiliary hosts a luncheon for Laguna Honda patients suffering from Multiple Sclerosis each month. Chairing the January luncheon was Mrs. Robert Roy and Westlake's Mrs. Murray H. Freedman was entertainment chairman.

MRS. ERNESTINE VETTER, publicity chairman for the Westlake Senior Citizens, reminds members that the club will continue meeting in the club room of Villa Fontana for one more month.

Questions about the meeting site and time should be directed to the president, Mrs. Millie Machens.

PLANNING THE AWARDS

Laura Duplissea, Dorothy Macabee and Betty Battaglia plan the awards that will be presented at the Founder's Day Dinner sponsored by the South San Francisco PTA Councils. It will be at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 18 at the Brentwood Lodge in that city. For reservations; call Mrs. Battaglia.

Door Opened Slightly

It has been 21 years since Martin Luther King Jr. and his associates started their sit-ins and marches to make non-violence an American word.

In thinking of those 21 years, one must agree with Saunders Redding:

"No thoughtful American would say that the millenium is in sight, but neither could he deny that a great mobilization of national purpose is under way, or that already there are auguries of a future that cannot come too soon."

In San Mateo County 20 years ago blacks would have hesitated to ask for permission to try on a pair of shoes or look at a dress. Today, very little of this type of prejudice remains. Today, black and white waiters and waitresses serve everything from burgers to prime rib dinners to black and white diners alike.

TWENTY YEARS AGO the blacks attended one or two schools while the other schools remained "lily" white. Today the schools are integrated with the ratio of black, white, Oriental, Third World, depending upon the make up of the neighborhood. Indeed, reports show that in some school districts the whites are becoming the minority.

It is interesting to note that in high school plays and musicals, talent, not race, is the criteria for awarding roles. Hence, blacks are cast as Puritans from New England while Orientals play the parts of settlers of Iowa.

In one community after another children from every race are seen playing side by side. A recent report indicates that at a slumber party in Daly City the guests were a white girl, a black girl, a girl from India and a Samoan. Surely such reports indicate that in San Mateo County we have taken to Martin Luther King's dream of a Community at peace with itself.

NEVERTHELESS, we must admit that we have merely opened a crack in the door. In nearly every city there are families who are feeling disappointed in finding that to live in a "white" neighborhood, or to be served by a "white" waitress does not turn the world to gold. In nearly every city there are areas where the houses cost too much for many of the Third World people to purchase. Consequently, we still have black neighborhoods, Oriental neighborhoods and white neighborhoods. In some schools, it is true, that children from long lines of middle class progenitors read and write better than their associates whose parents come from share-cropper farms and countries where peonage prevails.

In San Mateo County the findings of a United States census are significent. As reported by Dr. Nathan Hare in "Ebony" for February 1976, more than one out of three black families is headed by females. The survey reports that there are more than three times as many fatherless black families as white. Such conditions, Dr. Hare warns, are indices of social decay. It means that too many black children are losing their parental love too early and too often. Dr. Hare writes that this means that too many children meet frustration and conflict early in their lives and carry them into adult life.

As an editor of "Ebony" magazine observes care must be taken that "middle class blacks — the strategists and opinion makers of the nation's largest minority," do not follow or even allow a double standard to develop wherein civil rights are denied to some and enjoyed by others.

Baciocco To Meet With Pacificans

An open Constituents' Night has been arranged by the Sharp Park Improvement Council so that the various neighborhood groups and the public at large may have the opportunity to share give-and-take discussions on various subjects such as taxes, open space and SamTrans scheduling with Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr.

This meeting will take place Thursday, at 8 p.m. in the Multi-purpose Room at Sharp Park Elementary School on Palmetto' Avenue.

Sanchez Adobe Pruning Set

Pacifica Branch of American Fuchsia Society has scheduled work parties to prune the fuchsias at Sanchez Adobe and Vallemar Gardens Jan. 30.

If it rains, it will be postponed to Feb. 6. Public demonstrations of pruning will begin at Sanchez Adobe at 11 a.m. Members are requested to be on time. Free cuttings will be available at both locations.

County HRC Director Draws Line at Staff Use

San Mateo County Human Relations Director James E. Forrest made it clear to members of the County Human Relations Commission Thursday night that they are not going to use his office staff to conduct independent investigations.

The matter evolved when Commissioner Raymond Yenigues suggested that the Human Relations Office look into the grievance procedure and employment figures for the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program.

He asserted that "CETA has no grievance procedure, contrary to Fran David (the county's manpower director)."

Yenigues referred to an appearance by Ms. David before the commission recently to discuss the CETA program.

"Is this commission a mockery that a person can come here and make this kind of a statement?" Yenigues asked. "There is no accountability."

His proposal for a report from the Human Relations Office drew a heated reply from Forrest, who stated, "My staff are not employes of the Human Relations Commission. . . . I don't want any demands on my staff without talking to me."

Commissioner Mary Katherine DeLong stated that the commission merely wanted some data.

"Don't play games," Forrest snapped.

Chairman Allan Weinstein told Forrest he was "out of order."

"We're not asking for a report without going through you," Weinstein stated. "Let's avoid any histrionics."

Commissioner John J. Norton said he couldn't see any direct relationship between CETA and the Human Relations Office.

Forrest agreed, stating that Yenigues' complaint "has nothing to do with human relations."

Norton moved to table all further discussion of CETA unless there is a specific complaint made.

Commissioner Angelo Cabe commented that he believes it would be "a mistake to ignore the problems of CETA. Manpower has not given us any help."

The commission went on to vote, however, to table the matter.

In a report concerning the situation at San Carlos High School where racial disturbances occurred earlier this month, Forrest informed the commission that "many individuals feel the matter is being properly dealt with by the district."

He said he would prepare a report if the commission wanted one, but he felt "there are enough irons in the fire now."

As to the report of recent racial tensions at Carlmont High School, Forrest commented. "The more you talk about the thing, the more you can inflame it."

The commission didn't discuss the matter further.

In the annual reorganization of the commission, Weinstein was elected chairman, succeeding Mildred Swan. Mrs. DeLong was elected vice-chairwoman, succeeding Weinstein, and Cabe was elected secretary.

For Patty Hearst

Deputy Trains Dog

By LIN DAY

The San Mateo County deputy sheriff who just a year ago was shot down in an ambush by terrorists has trained an 85-pound dog as a protector and pet for Patty Hearst.

Patty has made daily trips to his Redwood City home for the past two weeks, spending hours with the German shepherd, and has developed a close relationship with the dog.

The dog, whose name is "Arrow," went home with Patty last Saturday.

Free on $1.5 million bail while awaiting an appeal of her conviction in a San Francisco bank robbery, Patty has attempted to pick up some of the pieces of a shattered life, and has been quietly attending training sessions in San Carlos with her new pet.

Here, she is accepted without comment by a mixture of Peninsula housewives, a salesman, a librarian and others while three husky bodyguards look on and the group put their individual dogs through the paces.

It is a friendly, neighborhood-like gathering, with everybody pouring his own coffee from a small urn. There are sheep dogs, golden retrievers and a number of big police dogs.

Patty, wearing slacks, a loose windbreaker and no makeup, could easily be mistaken for the mid-teen daughter of one of the others as she loses herself in the crowd.

Running the show is Robert Outman, 32, the deputy who surprised two terrorists under a full moon at Edgewood Road and Highway 280 on a lonely Friday the 13th, and who has since been on disability leave. He carries the fragments of one high-powered rifle bullet in his leg, and a number of fragments from a second bullet in his arm.

The terrorist had planted a bomb at the base of a PG&E tower.

In the Outman home the big deputy moves gently among his children and dogs, looking more like the Sunday School teacher at St. Peter's Episcopal Church (which he is) and the member of the church select committee for the new rector than a man in the center of a stage set by terrorists.

When Patty drops in, it is natural to drop on a rug and play with her dog, while Outman's 11-year-old daughter and six-year-old son pile on.Or she gets a ball and plays "fetch" with Arrow.

"He likes to roll over and have his belly scratched," Outman says.

"Patty," he continues, "is a very warm person. The dog gets her laughing. They have enjoyed the obedience work together. He is a quiet dog, very well mannered, and likes to sit down and shake hands.

"When Patty came, she always gave the dog a big hug. It took only a week to transfer his allegiance from me to Patty. Then the dog came to her, not to me. The time came when he would wait for her and run, his tail wagging, to the door when she came."

"Towards the end of his training, she hated to leave him. But now that he is gone, we miss him. Arrow has such a sweet disposition and temperament."

Outman, despite the trauma in his life and that of his pupil, continues the training system he developed in his canine work and with his business organization "Pryon" which, he says, is built on love between dog and master.

He selected the dog eight weeks ago, he says, and brought Arrow home to train him in a family environment.

"He is not a vicious dog," Outman said. (German shepherds have a bite that can range to 1,100 pounds per square inch.) "And he has been trained as a companion dog for Patty.

"Today, Patty is totally dedicated to her dog and he to her. She is a conscientious master, and the dog stays with her at all times.

"She started coming down every day two weeks ago," Outman adds. "I first taught her how to care for the dog. She is a good pupil, a nice girl. Very friendly. She often engaged in pleasant conversations with my wife.

"We began the process of transplanting the dog's affections even while teaching diet, grooming and health of the dog to Patty. This is a delicate process undertaken to avoid traumatizing the dog.

"When the day came that the dog responded to Patty and not to me, she was delighted. She had been very patient, praising Arrow when he did well and came back to her, patting him on the head.

Riordan Guild Sets Dinner, Games Night

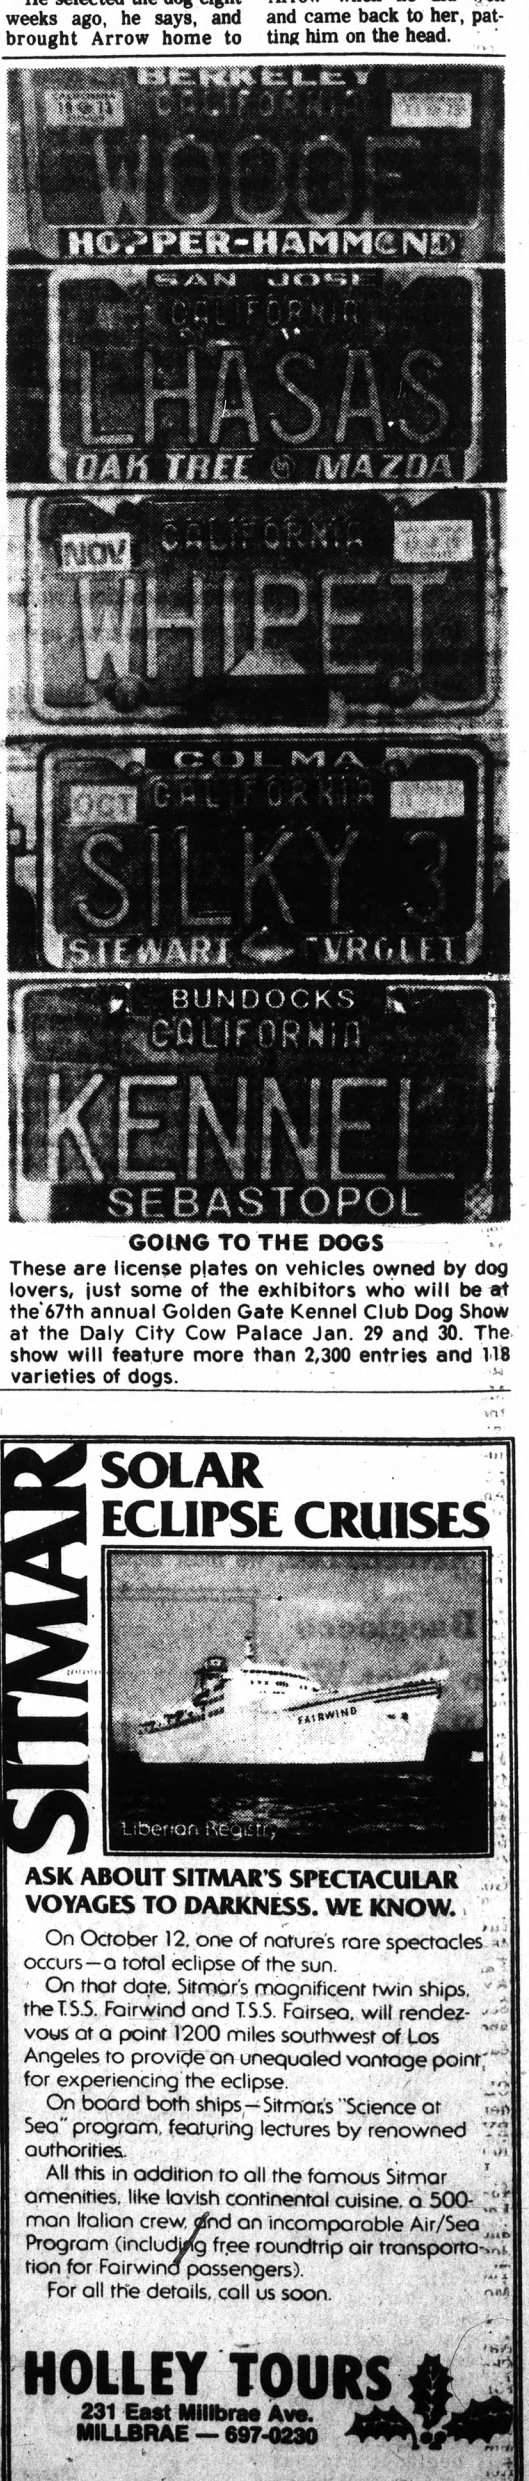
The Riordan Guild is once again sponsoring their International Dinner and Games Night, February 8, at 7 p.m. in Chaminade Hall, Riordan High School, 175 Phelan Ave., San Francisco.

There will be a no-host cocktail hour at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Joseph Dovichi, chairman and Mrs. Donald Gilliam are co-chairwomen.

This will be an adult affair, and the $3.50 admission includes the dinner and games.

Reservations must be made by Feb. 4, by calling Mrs. James O'Sullivan.



GOING TO THE DOGS

These are license plates on vehicles owned by dog lovers, just some of the exhibitors who will be at the 67th annual Golden Gate Kennel Club Dog Show at the Daly City Cow Palace Jan. 29 and 30. The show will feature more than 2,300 entries and 118 varieties of dogs.

SITMAR

SOLAR ECLIPSE CRUISES

ASK ABOUT SITMAR'S SPECTACULAR VOYAGES TO DARKNESS. WE KNOW.

On October 12, one of nature's rare spectacles occurs—a total eclipse of the sun.

On that date, Sitmar's magnificent twin ships, the T.S.S. Fairwind and T.S.S. Fairsea, will rendezvous at a point 1200 miles southwest of Los Angeles to provide an unequaled vantage point for experiencing the eclipse.

On board both ships—Sitmar's "Science at Sea" program, featuring lectures by renowned authorities.

All this in addition to all the famous Sitmar amenities, like lavish continental cuisine, a 500-man Italian crew, and an incomparable Air/Sea Program (including free roundtrip air transportation for Fairwind passengers).

Celebration: Near 2 Million Words

Le Pacini

This week's column is a sort of belated celebration to myself. A celebration of endurance, if nothing else. Actually, it should have been written last March, but as is my wont in life, I am late.

For years I've been promising myself I would write a commemorative column when I had written one million words worth of columns. I always kept track of the total, kind of. Then, the other day it came to me that I should be just about approaching that grand figure, and for the first time I sat down and figured it with a calculator and lo and behold, I had hit the million mark last March. Now, that is not one million in columns for this newspaper and affiliates. I've also written sports columns for the Westlake Times (as the late Joe Verducci's ghost writer) and another newspaper. This column will put me at about 885,000 for this newspaper. Actually, counting typing errors, I'm probably fast approaching the two mill mark.

Speaking of Joe Verducci, that column gave me my first taste of professional controversy. The 49ers were giving Joe Perry a "Day" and Verducci felt that Perry was making a good enough salary and that he should donate all of his prizes to charity, which is exactly how I wrote it. But a wire service picked the story up out of context, and Verducci ended up being quoted nationally as not thinking that Perry deserved such recognition, period. Verducci was scouting for the Chicago Bears at the time, and the thin-skinned Morabito brothers rescinded Verducci's press box privileges. Poor Joe never did get completely back into the 49er good graces.

Verducci also had to do, indirectly, with perhaps the best, or at least most effective column I've ever written which never got printed. Actually, that column wouldn't count as one of my million, because I wrote it in the San Francisco State College newspaper. But it is still memorable to me.

THERE WAS AN UNUSUAL RASH of book thievery at the college library, and while everybody else was trying to find exotic reasons for it, I tested a theory I had — that the best way to steal books was to walk right out the front door with them, because all of the book checkers were Verducci football players who used that time to sleep or do homework, and never checked the books.

After I had "stolen" about 100 books this way, I wrote what I thought was an extremely humorous and clever column about it, and then presented a copy of the column to assistant football coach Bill Harkness, the man who had procured the book-checking jobs for the players. He blanched, made every football book checker read it and sign it, gave it back to me and asked me to hold off on printing it if I could prove to myself that I could no longer steal books with football players on duty.

The next time I tried it, I almost got an arm ripped off, and I never did print the column. There would have been no point except ego satisfaction, because the reasons for its existence had vanished.

My one chance to be a great seer went by the boards because I got crossed up on a deadline date. In 1965, on a lark, I decided to pick the exact order of wins and losses in the World Series between the Dodgers and the Twins, as well as the winning pitchers. On a million to one shot, I not only did just that in the Series won in seven games by the Dodgers, but I even picked three or four of the exact scores. Only trouble was, as I discovered to my horror, I prepared the column a week late when I somehow got the World Series dates crossed up (weekly columns must be written about a week in advance, which can be confusing), and so the column ran when the Series was already half finished.

Which, to readers who don't understand deadlines for weekly newspapers, made it look as if I had merely waited for the results and THEN written my predictions. All of which explains why, to this day, I have never made any other predictions in the column.

My editors have always been kind, if you discount the three occasions on which they forgot to print the column. Only once have I been censored, and only once not backed to the hilt.

Another memorable column, for me — because it could have gotten me killed — was actually a series of columns debunking the macho myths of karate, exposing some unethical karate studios, and saying some pretty rough things about some of the karate club instructors. Naturally, I received many threats from karate nuts, including a guy in San Jose who delighted in killing bulls with his bare hands.

I am happy to report that they never got me and that karate instructors and studios are much more ethical than they were at the time I wrote the series.

My biggest "scoop" in the old-fashioned sense of the word also gave me perhaps the most satisfaction I've had as a strictly local columnist, not because of the "scoop" factor, but because it demonstrated that somebody DOES read this thing.

THIS STORY IS REALLY TOO LONG and complicated and convoluted to handle here. It will have to be a chapter if I ever do an autobiography. But briefly, it concerns an item I did on "inside" stuff concerning local television sports personalities, and which included the intelligence that John O'Reilly, Channel 7's long-time sports director, was on his way out.

Literally hours after the column was published, I received a phone call from a very worried, very humble (which was completely out of character) O'Reilly wanting to know where I had gotten my information. Naturally I couldn't tell him, but I did tell him that he shouldn't worry, because it was all only speculation.

"But I am worried," confessed O'Reilly, "because I happen to know that all the other information you have in that item is accurate."

O'Reilly confided to me that he was so harassed by inquiring phone calls at his home number — mostly from other newsmen and agents of announcers looking for jobs — that he had had to hide in the studio all day; which also had about 20 calls waiting for him when he arrived, including calls from as far away as San Jose and Fresno.

It made this little local columnist feel like an international star. Especially when all of my predictions came true . . . sad as it was for O'Reilly.

Translating TA Into Teen Lingo

By JANET REINKA

Guffawing in the library is a sure-fire hooker. So is slouching in a chair and bleating "Oh wow" when Mom walks by, or not answering when a teacher says something to you.

Toss out a hooker and your PIC's are sure to come on parent. Instead of getting the Warm Fuzzies we crave, a shiver of Cold Pricklies slithers up and down our spines.

Those already fluent in the language of transactional analysis (TA), the rapidly growing tool of psychotherapy, recognize those terms as code words for some of our behavior. We know when our little Kid is on his high horse and we feel like a total Froz.

A gray-haired, amiable Sacramento psychologist has written another in a three-book series in painstakingly simple language to help people translate those TA techniques into easier living.

Although there are several good books on the subject for adults (including Eric Berne's "Games People Play" and Dr. Thomas Harris's "I'm O.K., You're O.K."), there weren't any for young people.

Young, young people.

So Dr. Alvyn M. Freed put together "TA for Kids," which was so well-received among TA-practicing psychologists, that "TA for Tots" (third to sixth grade) followed.

Dr. Alvyn M. Freed

And now Dr. Freed has written a third book aimed at those years which teem with some of the sharpest growing pains — and probably bring on more parental insomnia than any others — the teen years.

"TA for Teens" (Jalmar Press, Inc., says loud and clear something that Dr. Freed believes most people really don't believe about themselves — that we're okay.

The book is chock full of good-humored illustrations by Regina Faul-Jansen. Dr. Freed also had a teen-age friend give it a read to make sure he was talking to teens on their level.

In TA language, we are all born a Prinz (a winner) but sometimes we feel like a Froz (a loser). But people can change, Dr. Freed says. Now.

"Change can be difficult," the gangling, curly-haired doctor said. "But if you have the tools of thinking, you can get well today."

Both in private therapy and in the book, Dr. Freed helps teens to take apart their behavior and interaction with others (transactions) to find out what is behind them.

Each of us has People in Charge (PIC's) (parents, teachers and others). Even when we get older, we rely on what our PIC's have told us (Parent Tapes). TA, according to Dr. Freed, helps youngsters develop their own sets of values, based upon their Parent Tapes and other experiences.

At different times, different parts of our personality are "in charge," in TA lingo. The Child in us plays "Mine-Is-Better-Than-Yours" games, overeats, acts coy, cries or sulks.

The Parent in us says "I should be paying attention in school" while the Child daydreams. Our Child wants a handful of cookies before dinner while our Parent wants us hungry so we'll enjoy what Mom slaved over a hot stove to prepare.

Our Adult thinks. It takes into account what our Kid "feels" and what our Parent said we should do and makes a wise decision.

What "TA for Teens" is all about is guiding kids to an understanding of the three different voices in our personalities.

One of the most common complaints teen-agers have about their parents and other PIC's is that they are always hassling them, Dr. Freed said. But often the teen purposely but unconsciously "hooks" the parent into such a situation by letting his Kid take over.

Some examples: A kid whose parents object to smoking may ask Dad if he can smoke in the house. Dad blows up.

A kid may dress in clothes that even he feels deep down look ridiculous, grow his hair longer than he really likes it, race his car up and down the block and indulge in many other types of attention-seeking behavior.

Why? Because we are afraid to let our own Adult be in charge and want our Parent to do it, TA says. And Dr. Freed counters that when teens do these things, they are not giving themselves a chance to be in charge of themselves.

"When you get in touch with where you are, your Adult finds better ways of doing things," Dr. Freed said "Awareness in TA is the name of the game."

According to Dr. Freed, we all go through life trying to get "strokes." Good ones (feelings) are Warm Fuzzies; bad ones are Cold Pricklies.

Two of the greatest problems teen-agers face are drugs and sex, and he believes TA helps them make good Adult choices about them.

Many times, he said, young people feel compelled to take drugs because their peers do. We want the Warm Fuzzies of abstaining as our Parent wants us to without the Cold Pricklies of seeming out of it to our friends.

Similarly, teens should be able to accept their sexual feelings without being loose, he said. TA can help teens evaluate the pressure toward premarital sex in view of religious values, what their parents have taught them and other factors.

"Many people see sex as a way of fitting into a group," he said. "Frequently it's an expression of anger, escape, a way to get away from a dictatorial home.

"Others deny that they have these feelings at all. If you can do it (repress your feelings), fine, but actually it's not fine because the part of you that is dictating is not the part that's hurting."

Although Dr. Freed recommends "self-caressment" as a way for teens to handle their sexual feelings, he thinks that, for many, traditional values hold up pretty well.

Isn't it threatening for parents to have their children making up their own minds about things are important as sex and drugs?

The 63-year-old doctor shook his head.

"Actually the ones I've worked with find it a comfort," he said. "But isn't it better to face these things than hide from them? Your kids will, whether you do."

"There are different things going on."

Gust Backs Recall

By JANET PARKER

A Pacifica councilman has surprised residents of the coastal city by announcing his firm support of a recall movement against three of his fellow council members.

An angry Nick Gust said Tuesday that he hopes Pacifica residents will sign the petitions now circulating through the city to get on the ballot the issue of recalling Janice Fulford, Sidney Lorvan and Mark Savage.

Gust said he decided to break his vow of non-involvement when he returned from a business trip late last week.

Gust said he was infuriated to learn that at a meeting Tuesday night attended by only the three council members who are targets of the recall, the trio declined to reappoint Planning Commissioner Jim Brush, instead appointing Jim Belland, said to be more in agreement with their philosophies.

Gust was out of town on business and Councilman Stan Farber was unable to attend due to family illnesses.

"It was one of the lousiest, poorest operations of city government I have ever seen in my life," Gust said of the decision. "I have never seen anything so rotten pulled in my history in city government."

Gust said he has never heard of a council making appointments to a city commission without the full council present. And, he said, he had never even seen the credentials of the person the council selected.

Belland has been a member of the Hillside Review Board.

Garden Restaurants Offers Nine Menus

"Come as you are" is the invitation of the nine family restaurants under one roof at TANFORAN PARK SHOPPING CENTER, San Bruno. THE GARDEN RESTAURANTS, located on the lower level, offers nine individual menus to appease large or small appetites. Take advantage of the coupon offer which is good for 50 cents on any purchase over one dollar at any one of the nine restaurants. Valid after 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, through Feb. 9. . . . The complete Dinner Specials now being featured at LYON'S restaurants (San Bruno, Millbrae, San Mateo and San Carlos) are sure to get you out of your kitchen several times a week. Fish'n Chips (2.99) includes Icelandic fish filets, dipped in beer batter (Old English-style), steak fries, choice of soup or salad, beverage and dessert. Then there's Beef Kabob ($3.29) and Irish Coffee ($1.25), O'Lyon's special brew. On your next visit, be sure to ask about their Lyon's Sweepstakes. Every Lyon's has 12 winners. . . . THE CASTAWAY, on Coyote Point, is a tropical paradise for romantic dining and lingering over exotic drinks. On Sundays, brunch is featured from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. What a way to entertain out-of-town guests! Good idea to make reservations. Party planners will be interested to know that banquets are a specialty. . . .

"Animal Crackers" S.F. Airport Hilton

The new Maggie's Bar and Disco at the AIRPORT HILTON is going so well according to DANIEL MC HALE, general manager, that a new feature attraction will be booked each month to give variety to one of the Peninsula's hottest entertainment and dancing facilities. Current attraction is the popular group "ANIMAL CRACKERS" . . . BAYHILL LOUNGE in San Bruno is featuring THE TRI SOUNDS nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays. This booking is for the entire year. Stop in and enjoy the musical action now . . . It is just 15 minutes from downtown San Mateo to NICK GUST'S three Rockaway Beach restaurants, THE MOONRAKER, CAPTAIN CHARLES and NICK'S. The menu choice is varied — meat, fowl or seafood — and a special menu can be arranged for banquets. Dine romantically at the shores of Pacifica . . . YOLANDA'S restaurant in South San Francisco may be a little hard to find, but once your sights are on the location you won't forget it. A Roast Sirloin of Beef dinner is served for just $2.95 Monday through Thursday from 5 to 9 p.m. The regular menu is also available . . . The end of January will see a new menu at BEARDSLEY'S in Burlingame. Many additional items will be featured with the regular rundown.

Lori Shannon Returns To Finocchio's Show

LORI SHANNON, the hit of "All in the Family" and Archie Bunker's "favorite female impersonator," is back entertaining FINOCCHIO'S customers with his outlandish dresses, comic ways and hilarious gift of gab. For a memorable evening, be sure to see the Finocchio performances. And, of course, THE EVETTES are back to entertain you during four shows nightly, except Mondays and Thursdays.....Among the many outstanding things about SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S restaurant in Redwood City is the fact you can always find ample parking in the parking area and you don't have to walk far to the restaurant entrance. Just another customer convenience. .....TONY LICATA reports that VINCE'S ITALIAN AND SEAFOOD restaurant topped all records for the month of December. Seems January is also off to a long lead over last year.....LEHR'S GREENHOUSE Garden Restaurant in San Francisco has such an incredible array of exotic flowers, plants and trees from around the world that it takes three full-time gardeners to keep the foliage in top shape. Feasting on roast rack of baby lamb under a towering banana palm tree is an unforgettable dining experience.

Phil's Steakery Is Gary's "Home Plate"

Former Giants star Gary Matthews, now with the Atlanta Braves, graciously signed autographs for admiring fans between bites of New York steak, the other night, at PHIL LEHR'S STEAKERY, on the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Tower, Taylor Street entrance.....ENRICO ROMANO not only serves one of the best pizza selections in the area at his ROMANO'S restaurant, Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, but his Italian dinners are crowd attractions. All food is prepared to go as well as eat in..... As of this writing, the Lake Tahoe area is still flirting with the spring season, with snow on the mountains for the skiers and clear roads for travelers. Cool mornings and evenings but in the 50's during the mid-day. Business at BARNEY'S and SOUTH TAHOE NUGGET continues to "jackpot" away, and the restaurant sections are busier than ever.....The VILLA HOTEL in San Mateo has the reputation of being the "Convention Center of the West". They offer 225 well-appointed rooms, color television, airconditioning, meeting rooms, banquet facilities, 24-hour coffee shop service, ample parking and a free 24-hour radio dispatched bus to and from the San Francisco International Airport.

CLEANING THE GARAGE

These Boy Scouts in Troop 343 rummage through their garages for items to sell during a garage sale Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 221 St. Francis Blvd. near San Fernando Way. The sale benefits the troop's various community projects, and donations of items are sought. From left, the Scouts are Greg O'Brien, Randy Beckman, Mike O'Brien and Dave Moran.

Hit-Run Leads To SSF Fight

South San Francisco police Friday night trying to question a young man about a hit-and-run accident ended up arresting both the man and his father, who allegedly had stepped in on his son's behalf in a fight with the police.

The police said they were called to investigate a hit-and-run accident about 10:45 p.m. at the Taco Bell drive-in at 465 El Camino Real.

Information about the suspect vehicle indicated that the registered owner lived at 346 Del Monte Ave. in South San Francisco, so Officer Dave Tulles was dispatched to that address.

When he arrived in the 300 block, he found the suspect vehicle parked in front of 350 Del Monte Ave., police said. Two passengers in the car reportedly pointed out the driver, Robert Robert Scott Humphrey, 19, and Tulles told him he was investigating a hit-and-run.

Tulloes said Humphrey refused to cooperate, so he requested a back-up.

When he tried to resume questioning, Humphrey allegedly walked away and into his house, despite Tullos' telling him that he was under arrest for interfering with the investigation and obstructing an officer, police said.

At that point, Officer Bill Osborn arrived and Humphrey came out of the house with his father, Ira Fred Humphrey, 50, police said.

Tullos told the younger Humphrey that he was under arrest that he should step over to the patrol car, but he refused, police said.

When Tullos then tried to escort Humphrey to the car, the suspect allegedly shoved him away and his father grabbed from behind the other policeman, who jumped in to help.

When the younger man tried to escape, a scuffle developed and he and the officers reportedly fell into the street, with the father grabbing Osborn and striking him on the forehead.

Finally the two were subdued, police said, and arrested. The son was booked in Daly City and charged with interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty, resisting arrest and assault and battery.

The alleged hit and run accident is still under investigation. The father was charged with interfering with an officer.

Osborn received five stitches for the wound on his forehead at Kaiser Hospital and was released. He also had a cut left elbow, police said.

Lecture on Handwriting

Sister Cecilia Cronin, a nun at Holy Angels Church in Colma, will speak on "You Are What You Write," a lecture on handwriting analysis, at the Serramonte Library, 40 Wembley Drive, Daly City, on Tuesday, Feb. 1, at 7:30 p.m.

According to Sister Cecilia, through graphoanalysis, the science of handwriting analysis, more than 200 personality traits can be identified. She teaches adult classes in graphoanalyis at Westmoor and South San Francisco high schools.

SSF Rotary

South San Francisco Rotary Foundation Chairman Walt McRae announces that candidates for the Rotary Foundation Scholarships are invited to write him at 476 Victory Ave., South San Francisco, 94080 for application forms or information.

History of Area Train

A slide-movie program about the history of an electric train that once ran from Daly City to San Mateo will be given at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 3 at the San Bruno Library.

THE LINKS GET LONELY

Caddy Keith Schumacher found work this day at the California Golf Club in South San Francisco. But he is part of a dying breed — there isn't much call for caddies any more, and one veteran predicts that the art of caddying may become extinct within a year.

SSF Course No Exception

Caddies Nearly Extinct —The Machines Did It

BY GARRY NIVER
Post Sports Writer

The summers of '56 and '57 were good times for drinking Country Club Malt Liquor, chasing girls and picking up easy "walkin' around" money caddying at the California Golf Club in South San Francisco.

The golf course, in all its wide-open splendor, was the natural place for North County boys to matriculate, serving as an extension of their education. Mornings of clean air, fog-crested grass and errant golf balls and afternoons of poker games in the caddy shack, beer drinking sessions and whispered dreams.

It's all grouped under nostalgia now. Ripped-out pages of history can never be relived or replaced, only remembered.

The golf course was a home away from home.

It was a place where sage caddies with weathered countenances used to take the high school kids' money in well-planned poker games. Such colorful characters as Chicago Pete, Airplane Jack, Deputy Dave, Jerky John, Tiny, Crazy Oscar and Atom Bomb Tom used to carouse about the premises, imparting their knowledge of an art which they held in high esteem.

But it's just about dead now.

In an age when machines are replacing the machines which replaced the people, caddying is nearing extinction.

The grizzled veteran who could tote three bags full of every club imaginable while at the same time clubbing his employers (recommending which golf club to use) and reading the greens is disappearing.

Golf courses today are glutted with machine-driven carts, and the California Golf Club — which used to harbor those free-spirited fugitives from the 40-hour work week — is no exception.

Today the Cal Club, which used to feature about 40 regulars and about 80 youngsters on weekends, has only seven regular caddies.

"It's a combination of factors which brought about the demise of the caddy," said head golf pro Bill VerBrugge, who got his start at Cal in the late 50s as a caddy.

"It's easier for people to ride than it is for them to walk, so they take carts. And I think that the minimum wage law had as much to do with the phasing out of caddies as anything. It costs a member $7.50 per bag, plus tip. Two members can rent a cart for $10.

"It's easier and less expensive to take a cart," Verbrugge pointed out. "If if were easier, or less expnsive to take a caddy, I'm sure it would be about 50-50."

The California Golf Club now has a fleet of 60 carts to carry around its 400 members. Eight years ago the club put in cart paths around the golf course to make life even easier.

"You can't blame the golfer," said VerBrugge. "Everything else has gone up, including membership dues, the cost of clubs, clothes...everything. About the only thing which hasn't gone up is the price of the golf ball. You can still purchase three quality balls for $4."

Swannie, a veteran with a salt rim around his shoes from early morning loops (a loop is 18 holes of golf), tends to place the blame on our propensity towards the sedentary lifestyle.

"Golf is becoming a lazy man's sport," accused Swannie, who had just collected $8 for carrying a bag 18 holes for a lady member. "I've been here since 1948, but I can count those of us left on the fingers of one hand."

George, who has caddied on and off for 20 years, feels the art of caddying has a year left at the most. "The older people who used to use caddies are now taking carts out of necessity," said George. "And there just aren't enough young men coming into the game."

For George, it is love of the sport which keeps him around. Certainly it isn't the $16 he got Tuesday afternoon for a morning round with two women.

"I've been around golf since I was three feet high," said George. "I just love golf itself."

George does housepainting on the side, but his eyes twinkle when he describes a morning round of golf where one of his employers hit a particulary brilliant shot and laid it right up beside the pin.

"I get by on caddying, but I don't expect it to make me rich. A good caddy can usually make six to eight loops (18 holes of golf) per week. If you carry two bags, that usually means from $16 to $20 per round. Thursdays and Saturdays you can usually make it twice if you feel that ambitious."

What bothers George most is that when the caddy becomes extinct, so will the personal touches which made golf a class game.

The caddy is a golfer's personal valet, his counselor, his father confessor and his friend. He holds the umbrella when it rains and he fetches the ball when it goes in the bushes. And he can also be a scapegoat for a missed shot.

"I can remember when this caddy shack used to be packed," recalled George. "Now there are only six or seven of us hanging on. The Olympic Club up in San Francisco used to be the same way. Now they have more carts than any golf course. Only the San Francisco Golf Club still has a rule which states a member must use a caddy unless he is physically unable to."

What will rosy-cheeked George — used to the outdoors and brimming with knowledge of the sport — do when ths tiny need for caddies completely dies out?

"I'll just have to move on to something else," he lamented. "If people would just start walking again, the art of caddying would be reborn. But I don't ses that happening. The Club here encourages the use of carts because they own the carts and it pumps revenue back into the treasury. Caddys don't."

A funny thing happened at the California Golf Club Tuesday just after noon. A member came up to VerBrugge in the pro shop and requested a caddy because it was a nice day and he felt like walking.

"There isn't any," replied VerBrugge. The man winced, shrugged his shoulders and signed a chit for a gasoline cart. His golf exercise was becoming as much a victim of our age as the caddy.

Menlo Upset, Two Overtimes

Skyline Alone in Lead

Skyline College was the only leader among the Bay Area's three community college basketball conferences to escape the weekend with a perfect league record intact.

Menlo fell out of a first place Coast Conference deadlock with the Trojans (whom they host Saturday) after a 76-71 double overtime loss at Cabrillo College in Aptos. Meanwhile Skyline had an easy time stopping visiting Ohlone 88-73.

Skyline took a 55-23 halftime lead and, paced by guard Ted Scott's 24 points, was never in trouble against the Renegades.

It was a different story for Menlo, which got into trouble with a 31-22 halftime deficit at hot-shooting Cabrillo.

Menlo made more shots (32 out of 71 for 45 per cent) than Cabrillo even attempted from the field — but the Seahawks connected on 74 per cent (23 of 31). And Menlo's 35 fouls let Cabrillo get 39 charity throws (30 of them good) compared to just seven of 15 for the Oaks.

Menlo came back to tie it at 49 on Kurt Townsend's driving lay-up 16 seconds before the end of regulation play, but Townsend left the game with an injury. The Oaks got a 56-53 lead with 2:40 left in the first overtime. However a jumper by Steve Olds closed it to one and Joe Rogers made good on one of two free throws to bring on another extra period.

But with game scoring leader Colin Heard (22), Mike Stockwell and Mike Hart all sidelined by fouls, Menlo was outscored 20-15 in the final overtime. Twelve of those Cabrillo points came on free throws.

Heard had kept the Oaks alive early, hitting 16 of Menlo's first 18 points before his teammates provided some support.

Menlo controlled the boards, 35-25, led by 6-7 center Steve Trobbe, who also scored 13 points.

Skyline will carry a 4-0 league (and 16-4 overall) record to Cabrillo (3-2) on Wednesday evening before visiting Menlo's (3-1) Oakpit on Saturday. Menlo, which is now 13-2 overall in collegiate competition, hosts Hartnell (1-3) Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Skyline pressed Ohlone for the first half Saturday and got 17 steals. With Trojan coach Lyle Newcomer resting most of his starters in the second half, the Renegades came back a bit — with scoring machine Kevin Bowers staying in until the end to net 27 points.

That still left Bowers second in Coast scoring (with 87 points) to Skyline guard Dave Davis (91), who settled for 13 points (plus 13 assists) Saturday. Meanwhile Joe Adams got his conference season high of 21 points and also picked off 13 rebounds. Skyline controlled the boards, 52-33.

Menlo was ranked second in the state small division ratings and Skyline fourth — but that may change this week — although leader Mt. San Jacinto is still rolling along, at 20-1.

NPL Controversy Over Ineligible Players Erupts

By JOHN MURPHY

The first half of the North Peninsula League round-robin basketball season has just been completed, but not without considerable controversy.

Rumors have been circulating the league in past weeks that not all of league-leading Serramonte's players are eligible.

An official protest has been filed by Oceana High. If Oceana's charge is true, Serramonte may forfeit a minimum of five games.

The controversy has dampened an otherwise exciting finish to the first half of league play. In Friday's games Serramonte nipped Westmoor in double overtime 58-56 before a howling packed house at the Rams' gym, Jefferson clipped Oceana 48-39, El Camino turned back Terra Nova 60-50 and South San Francisco edged Half Moon Bay in overtime 65-64.

An NPL source revealed that as many as three Serramonte players may be ineligible. The players in question are Tom Sandoval (a transfer from Sacred Heart), Laron Franklin and sophomore Ricky Mixon.

Regent coach Ric Warne said that he was told by his principal on Wednesday that Sandoval should be withheld from the lineup until some things were straightened out. Sandoval, subsequently, has missed two straight games.

Warne said he had no knowledge of the protest filed by Oceana, but Oceana coach Don Novitzky confirmed that an investigation is being made into the matter.

This type of situation is not new to the North Peninsula League, or to Serramonte in particular.

In 1975 the NPL Board of Managers ruled Serramonte player Skip Campbell ineligible because of a residence discrepancy. At the time the Regents were 10-4 but were forced to forfeit all their games.

If a residence discrepancy is detected in the case of Sandoval, Franklin or Mixon, then the same thing could occur again. That would throw the NPL race into a tizzy and would be a mortal blow to Serramonte's playoff chances.

At present Serramonte is alone atop the NPL standings with a 7-0 record. Jefferson, which suffered its only loss to the Regents, is 6-1; Westmoor is third at 4-3 and three teams are tied for fourth with 3-4 records.

Serramonte-Westmoor

The Regents finally won it in the second overtime when Westmoor's semi-stall offense backfired twice.

Serramonte failed to capitalize on the first turnover but made good on its second opportunity. Center Reggie Love came up with a steal and fired a pass to Franklin, who streaked in for the layup with 1:05 remaining.

In the final minute the Regents had three chances to lock up the win for good, but missed the front end of one-and-ones on every occasion.

Westmoor got off two shots in the final 14 seconds but missed both and the game ended.

Mixon led all scorers with 18 points while Lou Tinsley added 12 and Love 11 for the Regents. Mike Burns topped Westmoor with 16 points. Also hitting double figures for the Rams were Jack Dorn with 14 and Mark Navarro with 10.

Half Moon Bay-SSF

Things couldn't have looked worse for South San Francisco as Half Moon Bay forward John Galvin converted a three-point play to open the overtime period.

However, SSF guard Larry Grubbe cut the deficit to 62-61 on a 10-foot jumper.

The Cougars then went into a four corner stall but turned the ball over with 1:43 left. The two clubs then traded misses but HMB center Dave Bradley grabbed a rebound and was fouled with 29 seconds left. He hit both ends of the one-and-one to put the Cougars up once again by three points.

But South City countered with a baseline jumper by Leorman Wilson and then committed a foul with just 14 seconds left.

HMB missed and then Warrior guard Scott Ergas hit a 15-footer with five seconds left to win it. The Cougars missed a 40-footer at the buzzer.

Wilson had his finest game of the season for South City, tallying 18 points. He was backed by Ergas with 12 points and Johnny Jones with 11.

Galvin led HMB's effort with 15 while Short had 14, and Grant Campbell and Tom Tucker added 10 apiece.

Oceana-Jefferson

Jefferson forward James Reed scored the first six points of the fourth quarter to break open a 29-29 tie and propel the Indians to their fifth consecutive victory.

Steve Vasquez led the Indians with 13 points while Ralph Directo added 11 and Reed 10 for Jeff. Oceana guard Conrad Simon finished the game with 10 points.

Terra Nova-El Camino

El Camino, with a ball-hawking defense and a deliberate offense, outscored the Tigers 20-4 in the opening period and then coasted the rest of the way.

Terra Nova outscored the Colts in each ensuing period but couldn't make up the huge deficit.

Bill Kennedy took game honors with 19 points and Kenny Rhodes added 16 for the Colts.

Wall Tenth In Marathon

Jeffrey Wall of Daly City finished tenth in last weekend's fifth annual Paul Masson Champagne Marathon through the streets of Saratoga.

Victories by SM County Athletes at Cow Palace

San Mateo County athletes took four victories — setting two meet records in the process — at the San Francisco Indoor Games at the Cow Palace Friday night.

The Millbras Lions TC quartet of Elaine Parker, Karen Elmore, Kelia Bolton and Marian Franklin set the meet mark of 2:20.6 in the women's sprint medley relay.

Parker staged a close duel with Freida Cobbs of Berkeley in the opening leg, with the MLTC star holding a slight edge at the first handoff.

Elmore opened it up to a quarter-of-a-lap lead, and the Lions coasted home with nearly an eight-second margin.

The foursome clutched gold medals, but it was obvious the win was well-earned.

"I'm dizzy," wheezed Bolton, leaning against a wall.

"My backside hurts," said Franklin. Somebody laughed. "It's not funny," she retorted.

"I'm tired," said Parker, who admitted being "scared" running the first leg.

"I've never started a relay before, but I feel better now," said Elaine. "But if you put a team behind at the start, it's hard to catch up — so I was a little scared."

Skyline College's sprint medley relay team of Tony Hicks, Alvin Diles, Mitchell Lockett and Bill LaForge raced to a meet record clocking of 3:33.6.

San Jose City College was in the running with Skyline until a missed baton exchange dropped them out of the race.

In third place was College of San Mateo's quartet of Ron Sherrin, Mike Greggans, Gary Davis and Bob Foulke, timed in 3:38.5.

Westmoor High's two-mile relay team won easily, as Eric Sausjord, Kevin Fuller, Rick Baldocchi and Jeff Maxwell scored a 4.4-second victory over runnerup Oakland.

Also winning a gold medal was Serramonte sprinter Darryl Jones, who clocked 6.3 in the prep 60-yard dash.

In other results, Dave Kniffin of Serra finished second in the prep high jump with a 6-4 leap; Miss Elmore was second in the long jump at 18-11 ¼; Gigi Hurley was fifth in the long jump at 17-6; Miss Parker was third in the women's 60 in 7.0, while Franklin was fifth (7.0) and Bolton sixth (7.1).

Also, Harry Koppel of the San Mateo Marlin Masters took fifth in the Masters 60 with an 8.2 timing.

Pad Booters Tie Lancers

Serra High, behind the solo goals of Kevin Butler and Nick Constantine, tied St. Francis 2-2 in WCAL soccer action Friday.

In the Mid-Peninsula League, Aragon, behind a hustling defense and goals by Dave Asplund and Juan Perez, blanked Hillsdale 2-0.

Ram Girls Win Opener

Westmoor High's girls' basketball team opened North Peninsula League play with a 41-26 win over Serramonte Friday.

Dionne Davalos and Lani Amores each scored 10 for Westmoor' which is now 7-1 overall. The Ram JVs ran their record to 7-0 with a comeback 33-30 win over Serramonte.

Seniors Want Action

By JANET PARKER

More than 100 vocal North County senior citizens told the Area Agency on Aging leaders Friday that they feel too detached from the county's central government to use its services and to exert changes.

Meeting in the South San Francisco Seniors Center, the seniors asked many questions but the underlying one was, "How do we get what we want?"

But South San Francisco's representative to the County Commission on Aging, Irving Roth, told his peers they haven't been trying hard enough.

He told his fellow seniors they should start with their own City Councils.

"If I could get 100 of you people to go to a council meeting and raise hell, we'd get somewhere," Roth said. "You can't send a committee of five but if you go with a committee of 100, they'll listen to you."

The meeting was the second of two public hearings held by the AAA. Newly appointed Director Thomas Jordan also conducted a meeting in Redwood City Thursday attended by some 55 South County senior citizens.

State guidelines for the agencies throughout the state require that the hearings be held early in the year to establish goals for it.

The seniors meeting in South San Francisco told AAA leaders they are bothered by many problems — property taxes, nutrition and transportation among them.

One senior, however, struck a common chord with many other seniors when he said it's difficult for seniors to go where they want to go.

"Most of the time, we people have difficulty getting around," the senior said. It's difficult for many to travel to Redwood City where the AAA and most county services are based, he said.

Another senior added that the AAA itself should hold meetings in locations throughout the county, particularly in the North County citied.

Roth told his fellow seniors that they don't participate in local meetings as they should.

"Unfortunately, getting you people together has been a problem," he said.

"If we go as an army and not as individuals, we'll get what we want," Roth said.

Dr. Ronny Russell, chairwoman of the county commission, told the seniors that they should be in contact with their local representatives to the commission. There are 21 commissioners representing different cities and communities.

"We're a very anxious and very large, informed group of older people in this county," she told the seniors.

In fact, she said, seniors across the country cast the heaviest vote in the recent presidential election. Congressmen are very aware of the power that seniors can have and they prove it by unanimously approving programs for senior citizens just before each election.

"You're terribly important," she told them. Seniors should be writing letters to the legislators if they expect to gain new programs and services, she said.

"Red tape exists. You've got to cut it every once in a while. We're ready to fight," she said.

She agreed there should be a senior center in every city in the county — not only to provide seniors with nearby services but to be a visible influence on the community.

"They need to be within the reach of every older person," she said. Eventually, she said, local senior citizens should ask their city councils to establish a city Agency on Aging.

Pacifica's senior representative, Edna Holmstrem, said 60 senior citizens attended a council budget hearing when the fate of the local senior citizens center was on the line.

"When it came to funding of our senior center, there wasn't any discussion. They passed it. They saw too many numbers in the audience," she said.

"Pressure on your local area is so vital and so important," Jordan said. He later said communicating with seniors is a nationwide problem. While providing services everywhere in the county may sound ideal, it could complicate the problem.

"You can decentralize into such small units, you can't get anything done," he said.

READY TO MODEL

The Westlake Catholic Women will present their annual Fashion Show and Luncheon on Feb. 5 in the Grand Ballroom at the Fairmont Hotel. Some of the women helping plan the event include: Mmes. Henry Soldati, decorations; Joseph Potter, investments; Joseph Vollert, hostesses; Harry Lindner, chairwoman; Richard Hutchison, hostesses and James Rainey, decorations (left to right).

No-Fee School Workshop

A one-day workshop designed to examine potential friction points in San Mateo County schools and to explore methods for dealing with them will be held Wednesday in Redwood City.

Ray Richardson, director of school and community relations for the Waterloo Public Schools, Waterloo, Iowa, will be featured speaker at the workshop, which will be held in Room 101 of the County Office Building from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The workshop is being co-sponsored by the County Office of Education and the County Human Relations Office.

There is no fee for the workshop. It is suggested by a spokesman for the sponsors that participants bring a bag lunch.

Board Weighs Chope Vote

By BOB HEMINGWAY

What will the final decision be when the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors select a method of providing health care services for the county's indigent residents?

Some members of the board have indicated their leanings, but have not made overt commitments, while others make no secret of what stand they will take.

Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr., an outspoken advocate of retaining Chope Community Hospital in its present capacity as a full-care institution, says that the hospital, in effect, "guarantees medical relief to anyone in dire need."

The decentralized system proposal of County Health and Welfare Director Dr. George Pickett, "to the contrary, offers no guarantee to protect the innocent human beings who are in pain or on the verge of death with no sure hope of relief," Bacciocco states.

Pickett is advocating a decentralized health care system which would close Chope Hospital as an acute medical care facility and convert it for long-term convalescent care and for care of psychiatric patients. Full-care patients would be transferred to other hospitals.

Supervisor Fred Lyon also is a Chope "advocate." He campaigned for election on a platform which advocated that the hospital not be closed. His questions during discussion meetings concerning the proposed health care system indicate Lyon has not changed his stand.

Supervisor William H. Royer issued a statement earlier this week in which he stated, "I will not vote to close Chope Hospital."

However, the supervisor added that he has not concluded whether Chope should be utilized as it is presently or whether it might better be used for other purposes, such as recommended by Pickett.

Supervisor James V Fitzgerald said this week that, "If we had control of the situation it would be an easy decision to make."

He recalled that a year ago he advocated consolidation of all hospitals in the county, with the Board of Supervisors acting as a board of directors.

"But," he stated, "it was too political."

Fitzgerald went on to state, "There's not enough money. To shift the burden (to a decentralized system), I'm afraid, would result in people who need the services having no place to go."

Board Chairman John M. Ward is the most noncommittal of all board members. Asked if he is leaning one way or the other, he flatly replied, "I don't know at the present time."

There still is some time to go before the board makes its decision.

A scheduled presentation by the medical and nursing staff at Chope Hospital in reply to Pickett's report and recommendations has been postponed from next Monday until Feb. 10 at 9 a.m. in the Hall of Justice, Redwood City.

DC Man Held in Rape Case

Rape charges have been filed against a Daly City man in the alleged molesting of a 10-year-old Girl Scout Brownie while selling cookies door-to-door in San Francisco.

Allan Meaney, 31, of 102 East Market St., Daly City, surrendered to police Tuesday night. He was accompanied by his attorney when he walked into San Francisco's Southern Station.

Lt. Jack Jordan, commander of the Sex Detail in San Francisco, said a concentrated investigation since the alleged rape occurred led to Meaney's arrest.

A search of Meaney's Daly City home and his truck provided police with evidence in the case, Jordan explained. Jordan did not elaborate.

Acting County Parks Director Appointed

Assistant San Mateo County Parks and Recreation Director Duane C. "Doc" Mattison has been appointed acting director by County Manager M. D. Tarshes following the death of Director John T. Brook Jr.

Tarshes said the director's post will be filled through normal civil service recruitment procedures and that the appointment of a new director will be made by incoming County Manager David Nichols after Feb. 1.

A memorial service for Brook, who died of a heart attack Wednesday, will be held Jan. 29, at 1 p.m. in the Little Theater at the Veterans Memorial Building in Redwood City.

Mattison said today that a scheduled public tour Saturday of the Filoli property near Woodside, which the county is in the process of acquiring for park use, has been canceled and will be rescheduled at a later date. Brook had planned to lead the tour.

County Clerk Appointed Acting Secretary of State

San Mateo County Clerk-Recorder Marvin Church has been appointed one of three acting secretaries of state for California in the event of a disaster.

His appointment was made this week by Secretary of State March Fong Eu.

The California Government Code provides that the secretary of state shall appoint three acting secretaries to assume continuity of the office in the event of calamity.

Church was sworn in to the position by presiding Superior Court Judge William Lanam.

The appointment is subject to confirmation by the state Senate, considered routine.

SSF Firm Pickets Sentenced, Fined

Thirty-one pickets arrested during violence at Folgers Coffee Co. in South San Francisco in June have each been sentenced to six months summary probation and fined $150.

The members of the International Longshoremen's and Warehouseman's Union, International Brotherhood of Teamsters were arrested during a strike that closed many Northern California businesses for a week.

The defendants appeared Tuesday before Judge Charles Becker in North County Municipal Court for sentencing.

Six of the union members pleaded no contest to a charge of trespassing. They are Wesley Bodkin, Timothy DeLury, Use Use Jr., Harry Autagne, John Goldsworthy and Gary Baxman.

Bodkin, Autagne and Baxman and 25 others also were sentenced after pleading no contest to charges of unlawful assembly and participating in a rout.

Mrs. Fassler Is Seeking Disability

Former San Mateo County Supervisor Jean Fassler has applied to the County Retirement Board for disability retirement which, if approved, would compensate her $12,683 a year, one-half of the $25,367 salary she received in her last full year as a supervisor.

Mrs. Fassler, who served as a county supervisor for 12 years, decided not to seek re-election last year.

Transit Project Forms Finance Unit for Corridor

By BOB HEMINGWAY

A three-member subcommittee of the Peninsula Transit Alternatives Project (PENTAP) Committee has been named to make a study and recommendation concerning management and financing of the Peninsula corridor transit planned approved by the committee late last year.

Paul Bay, deputy executive director of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission (MTC) warned the PENTAP committee Friday in Redwood City that the task will not be easy.

Bay reported that in an informal meeting with San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara county transit officials recently it was indicated that the California Department of Transportation (CalTrans) probably would be the best agency to deal with Southern Pacific concerning recommended upgrading of SP Peninsula passenger service because the state agency could bring more pressure to bear than could local entities.

SP has expressed a reluctance to continue, let alone upgrade, its passenger service.

PENTAP Chairman John C. Beckett expressed doubt that CalTrans could force a contract with SP without specific action by the State Legislature.

PENTAP Committee Quentin Copp, a member of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, questioned whether the Legislature could give CalTrans the constitutional authority to force an agreement with SP.

Bay also expressed dim hopes of securing new funding to carry out the Peninsula corridor transit plan, which calls for not only upgrading of SP service, but also additional bus service along Junipero Serra and Bayshore freeways.

"Any hope of getting new monies in the next three years for PENTAP services is very dismal, indeed," Bay said.

Bay predicted that a bill introduced by State Sen. James H. Mills to find SP service will not pass.

"There is no appetite (in the Legislature) to dig up new money until they (legislators) are sure local entities are putting up every penny they can find elsewhere," Bay stated.

The MTC official reported that San Francisco is reluctant to provide any San Francisco funds for Peninsula service, and that Santa Clara County has committed its transit funding, with voter approval, for bus service in that county and to get a light rail system started there.

The San Mateo County Transit District is willing to put in some money, Bay said, but it is looking for a new source of funds with CalTrans backing.

Appointed to the committee to try and work out the problems and come up with a recommended solutions were PENTAP committee members William H. Royer, a member of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors; Geraldine Steinberg, chairwoman of the Santa Clara Board of Supervisors, and Copp.

They were requested to report to PENTAP by March 1 any recommended state legislation to facilitate the transit program.

Raises for Top County Management

When David Nichols takes over as San Mateo County manager Feb. 1, the county's director of health and welfare, Dr. George Pickett will become the county's highest paid employe.

Nichols, who will succeed M. D. (Marty) Tarshes in the county's top administrative position, will begin at a salary of $49,504 a year. Tarshes is leaving the office at a salary of $52,354, as compared to the $50,190 paid Pickett.

The County Board of Supervisors Tuesday approved 4.75 per cent salary increases for 200 management and confidential personnel, effective Jan. 1, but did not increase the salary ranges for county manager and director of health and welfare.

Tarshes, who recommended the increases, did not include a salary adjustment for Pickett in order to maintain what he called an "adequate differential" between the two positions at the top of the scale.

Tarshes said the employes receiving the increases are those who are not included in representation units which signed a two-year memorandum of agreement with the county effective Jan. 1, 1976.

The agreements call for cost-of-living adjustments Feb. 6 and Aug. 7 of this year. The county manager's recommendation for management and confidential personnel not represented by employe organizations is for the entire calendar year.

Included in the salary increases are the county's seven elected officials. Of these Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson will receive the highest salary, $56,634.

Salaries for other elected officials:

County Assessor Jack Estes and Sheriff John R. McDonald, $40,622; County Controller E. J. McGuire Jr., $39,458; County Clerk-Recorder Marvin Church and County Tax Collector-Treasurer Ross Conti, $37,294; County Coroner-Public Administrator Paul B. Jensen, $33,114.

Salaries for the county's top non-elective administrative officers and other key management posts:

Superintendent of the Health Division of the Department of Health and Welfare Dr. James Bodie, Assistant to the Director of the Department of Health and Welfare Dr. Howard Guerevitz, Program Chief of Mental Health Services Robert M. Rankin, each $46,634.

County Director of General Services Henry P. Tarratt and County Director of Public Works S. H. Cantwell Jr., each $44,138.

Chief Civil Deputy Dist. Atty. L. M. Summey, Chief County Probation Officer Loren Beckley, County Director of Community Services George Riley, Superintendent of Social Services Robert Rippeto, Asst. County Manager Max Meyer, each $40,622.

Chope Community Hospital Administrator Howard Classen, $36,442; County Planning Director Donald A. Woolfe, County Parks and Recreation Director John T. Brook Jr., County Personnel Director William May, each $36,109.

Superintendent of the Business Division, Department of Health and Welfare George Robertson and Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center Administrator Kirby Shoaf, each $35,339.

Asst. Sheriff Harold Barker, $33,738; Asst. Sheriff M. U. Craik, $33,722; Superior Court Executive Officer Paul Peoples, $32,469; County Librarian James Buckley, $32,178; Civil Defense and Disaster Office Administrator William Hinchcliff, $30,576.

Roller Skating Party Planned

The South San Francisco Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring a Roller Skating Trip to the Grand Arena Roller Rink on Feb. 21 (Washington's Birthday and a school holiday). Boys and girls in the second thru sixth grades can skate from noon to 4 p.m.

The cost for the trip is $1, which includes the admission and the roller skates. Parents must provide the transportation to and from the roller rink. Deadline for sign-ups is Feb. 16 at 5 p.m. Contact the Parks and Recreation Department for further information.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

There's a touch of the exotic about eggplant, especially when it's stuffed with a savory cheese filling. There's nothing exotic about the cost of nutritious entrees made with cheese however. Because economical, waste free cheese is a concentrated source of milk protein and contains most of milk's calcium and vitamin A, it's an excellent value for budget meals. Choose versatile California cheeses, varying from mild, unripened ones to more pungent, sharp varieties to add wonderful flavor and essential nutrients to any menu.

A favorite vegetable in mid-eastern cuisines, eggplant develops a surprisingly rich flavor as it cooks. This makes it a perfect partner to the two compatible cheeses used here — mellow jack and aromatic parmesan.

Slice the eggplant in half lengthwise and scoop out the center to make shells — each half is an individual serving. The filling mixture of cheese, eggplant pulp, onion and fresh tomatoes is enhanced with typical Mediterranean seasonings. The result is a delightful blend of textures and flavors and the cheese adds enough heartiness for any appetite. After baking, garnish servings with yogurt and chopped parsley. This appetizing recipe was developed by the California Milk Advisorq Board home economists. Arab pocket bread, buttered and toasted, would be a fitting accompaniment to the handsome entree.

CHEESE STUFFED EGGPLANT

2 small eggplants (about 1 pound each)
1½ cups chopped onion
2 cloves garlic, minced
6 lablespoons vegetable oil
½ cup minced parsley
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon oregano
1/3 cup grated parmesan cheese
2½ cups grated monterey jack cheese
2 large or 3 medium tomatoes

Trim off the stems from the two small eggplants. Cut each eggplant in half lengthwise. Cut pulp out of center of each half, leaving a ½-inch shell of pulp. Combine pulp, 1½ cups onion, two cloves garlic minced with six tablespoons oil in skillet. Cook, stirring until just tender. Mix in the half cup parsley, one teaspoon salt, half teaspoon each thyme and oregano, one-third cup parmesan cheese and two cups jack cheese.

Dice the two tomatoes and drain off seeds. Add to mixture. Spoon into eggplant shells. Place in oiled baking pan. Sprinkle with remaining half cup jack cheese. Oil cut edges of eggplant shells, if exposed. Bake in 400-degree oven 25 minutes. Makes four servings.

Loyola Guild to Convene

Loyola Guild's next monthly meeting will be held on Feb. 4 at 1:45 p.m. in McLaren 252 a new location.

Advisory board will meet at 1 p.m. in Room 308, University Center. The Rev. William C. McInnes, S.J., chancellor of the University of San Francisco, will be the guest speaker.

Anyone wishing to donate rummage for Loyola's March 9 sale at the Hall of Flowers, may contact the chairman, Mrs. Frank Kelechava or the president, Mrs. William Essig.

New Crewman

Army Private R. D. D. McEwen, son of Mrs. Coral A. Bills, 471 Southgate, Daly City, recently completed training as an armor crewman under the One Station Unit Training (OSUT) Program at Ft. Knox, Ky.

OSUT is a 13-week period which combines basic combat training with advanced individual training.

During the training, students learn the duties of a tank crewman, including the firing of the tank's armament and small weapons. They also receive instruction in field radio operations, map reading and tank maintenance and repair.

The private entered the Army in September 1976. Pvt. McEwen is a 1975 graduate of Westmoor High School.

Trained

Marine Private Eduardo A. Gonzales, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perfector V Gonzales of 388 Oriente St., Daly City, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

A 1975 graduate of Thornton High School, he joined the Marine Corps in August 1976.

Schooled

Navy Seaman Hector T. Chavez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose H. Chavez of 1057 Brunswick St., Daly City, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Orlando, Fla.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

A 1976 graduate of San Francisco City College, with an associate of arts degree, he joined the Navy in October 1976.

Cookie Sale Winding Up; Booths at Serramonte

Girl Scout cookies continue on sale this week with troop 446 (juniors) selling from their booth at the Bank of America at Serramonte. Spots to sell the final week of Girl Scout cookies are still available, according to booth chairman Kathy Skirra.

Cookie booths for Juniors and older are available at the San Francisco Airport through Mrs. Binnie Macomber.

Being offered for $1.25 per box sale are mints, lemon cremes, chocolate and vanilla cremes, Scot-Teas and the peanut butter Savannah.

HERITAGE FAIRE previously scheduled for Jan. 29 has been postponed, according to Daly City Special Events Chairman Carman Fry. Troops planning to participate are urged to sign up with Mrs. Fry for the Saturday March 5 Daly City Cultural Day.

LEADER'S CONFERENCE is scheduled for Jan. 29 from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. for all adults in the West Bay, at Carlmont High School's Student Union in Belmont.

Pre-registration is with the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council which has additional information on the day-long fifth annual workshop on skills and communications for adults spending time with girls.

Hand-arts, a mini-camp on the Bothin side of the Marin County property owned by the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council, is now available to local girls (Juniors and Cadettes).

The mini-camp is scheduled for the weekend of Feb. 25, 26 and 27 and will feature puppet making; spinning, weaving, and carding; batik; soft sculpture; dough art; silk screening; pottery (bisque and racoulle); quilting and doll-making (rag, wood and pillow dolls).

Girls may sign up for three choices of workshops and will participate in at least two of them. The fee is $15 and registration is by mail to the San Leandro office of the Council.

DELEGATES recently elected by the Daly City Girl Scout Association to the annual San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council meeting include Linda Barnes, Diane Pangburn, Louise Anderson, Bonita Hammill, Virginia Nowicki and Barbara Rushton.

Senior Scout delegate will be Cheryl Figone. Alternates include Caroline Futrell, Joan Stewart and Roz Morino. The local delegation will be led by Daly City Association Chairman Mary Ann Dale.

Brownies scheduled for a field trip today will tour the Daly City Police Station as a requirement for part of one of their Brownie Bee patches and will be led by Cheryl Figone.

Holly Figone, Judy Kemp, Amy Takemoto, Kristen Siebert, Toshie Onishi, Caroline Hinkle, Kathy Watson, Kellie Siemen, Juliene Siemen, Kelly Alves, Christina Whelchel, Dawn Lucier, Kate Paters, Cathy Wallis, April Freeman and Patricia Manzanares will learn how the station is run.

Handwriting Analyst Nun to Give Lecture

"You are what you write," a lecture on handwriting analysis, will be given by Sister Cecilia Cronin Feb. 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the Serramonte Library, 40 Wembley Drive, Daly City. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

Sister Cecilia, a Catholic nun at Holy Angels Church in Colma, is a certified handwriting analyst who is presently teaching adult education classes in graphoanalysis at Westmoor and South San Francisco High Schools.

According to Sister Cecilia, graphoanalysis is more than entertainment: It is a science through which one can identify more than 200 personality traits.

She feels that handwriting analysis can be used for better understanding of self and others, and in vocational guidance to identify abilities, aptitudes and talents.

Heart Unit's Plans

"We're fighting for Your Life" is more than a slogan with the Heart Association and its many volunteers.

The Heart Sunday City and area chairmen from Daly City met for coffee at the home of Mrs. Max Wahl on Park Manor Drive today to finalize plans for the Annual "Heart Sunday" Campaign set for the month of February.

These volunteers are responsible for the campaign activities for the Daly City area.

The following were present at the meeting: Mrs. Stephen Bianco, San Mateo County Campaign Chairman; Mrs. Max Wahl City Chairman for west Daly City; Mrs. J. A. Martin, City Chairman of east Daly City, and the following Area Chairmen:

Mrs. C. Chester, Mrs. R. Spurgeon, Mrs. Rena Corso, Mrs. Lee Fisher, Mrs. R. Paz, Mrs. E. Robles, Mrs. A. Schwartzbach and Mary Ann Freibert.

William Taylor, executive director of the Heart Association, spoke to the group concerning the past achievements and future goals of the Heart Association.

Joan Rosa, heart campaign director, and Wallace Altice, assistant director, were also in attendance.

These volunteers, many of whom work for the Heart Association year after year, offer an invaluable service to the organization and the community. Over $90,000 was received during the residential campaign of 1976.

Each issue of The Post and San Bruno Publications will be considered as consecutive insertions and must be taken to qualify for consecutive insertion rate. San Bruno newspapers are published Wednesday and Friday. The Post is published Wednesday.

ACCEPTABILITY: The Times reserves the right to reject, censor and properly classify any advertisement.

THE FIRST WORD of each 8 point type ad will be spelled out. Abbreviations will be accepted on the first word in 12 point or larger type lines. However, any ad that does not begin with an alphabetical character will not be in alphabetical sequence.

DEADLINE: Classified advertising must be placed by 3:00 p.m. day preceding publication, Monday through Friday, 12 noon Saturday for Monday's publication and 48 hours preceding holidays.

ERRORS: No responsibility is assumed by publisher for errors in any advertisement covered by order, nor for the omission of any advertisement in whole or in part, nor for failure to comply with the placement of advertising as ordered either as to frequency or volume. In no event shall publisher be liable for special damages or consequential damages even if it has been notified of the possibility of such damages.

Errors in published advertisements must be reported immediately; and if done, publisher will publish an appropriate correction and where publisher deems it necessary a rerun of the advertisement as corrected, if in publisher's judgment the error substantially varies the meaning of the advertisement as ordered. Such corrections will be made only as to those advertisements which are ordered for one insertion, and as to the first insertion only when ordered for more than one insertion.

Prayer To The Holy Spirit

Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the divine gift of forgive and forget, the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all the instances of my life with me. I in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never wanted to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory, Amen. Thank you, for your love towards me and my loved ones. Person must pray this 3 consecutive days without asking your wish. After the 3rd day, your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be, then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. S.D.C.

Follett Quits Developer Job

The political climate of San Mateo County and the position of the Board of Supervisors on the proposed development of San Bruno Mountain has resulted in the resignation of Visitacion Associates General Manger Robert Follett.

Follett, a Hillsborough resident, said there's been little left for him to do since the proposed development has shifted from the legislative arena to the courtroom.

"From here on it's just a case of long and lengthy litigation," Follett said today. "The function I fulfilled has been accomplished."

He said he will still be available to Visitacion under a long-term consulting contract.

Follett said the attempt to develop the North County mountain region has been the most frustrating experience of his career.

"I believe I have accomplished everything I can under the present political climate," Follett said. "In view of the zoning decision and litigation now pending only the land adjacent to the city of South San Francisco can be developed in the immediate future.

"That amounts to nothing more than a few subdivisions and a small commercial and industrial development," he said. That kind of development, he said, "doesn't really turn me on."

Follett is the tall, gray-haired figure who defended the massive project during many hearings before the county Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors.

The project caused a deep schism between the county's environmentalists and developers.

Trustee Withdraws From Teacher Suit

A South San Francisco school board member revealed this week that he has dropped his portion of a $2.6 million lawsuit against the district's teacher organizations.

Trustee Ken Austin said he decided in November to notify his attorney that he no longer wishes to be part of the litigation.

Austin, an engineer for Pacific Gas & Electric Co., along with the four other trustees and former superintendent Dr. Paul Nielsen, sued the California Teachers Association (CTA) for $2.6 million in damages in the aftermath of a two-week teacher strike in June 1975.

Nielsen and the board members listed complaints related to teacher activity during the strike, including picketing of the homes and places of business of trustees.

Austin sought $140,000 in damages, the smallest amount of the six individuals involved.

"I re-examined my feelings and commitment," Austin said, adding that he talked with his family about the possibility of withdrawing his part of the lawsuit.

"My family agreed with me it is time to put things aside," Austin said. Austin is a candidate for re-election this March but he said he made his decision to drop the suit before he filed for re-election.

The board recently appointed a new superintendent, Robert Kelly, who will assume the position on Feb. 1.

Austin said the board has been asking the public and teachers to set aside the turmoil of the past two years and to start with a clean slate when Kelly takes over. The trustees also asked Kelly to have an open mind and judge things for himself.

Austin said he believes he can't expect others to forget the conflicts of the past while pursuing a lawsuit concerning events of two years ago.

His family, he said, was the primary reason he had initiated legal action. He said he was concerned about events that disrupted their lives during the strike.

Teachers not only picketed Austin's place of employment in San Francisco but also his home in South San Francisco.

When Dr. Nielsen left the district in August, he said he did not plan to drop his own $500,000 suit for damages, even though he is now employed in Germany.

The other trustees have continued the lawsuit, being handled by the Southern California law firm of Patterson and Taggart, the same firm handling labor negotiations for the district.

The other trustees are Valerie Lambertson, suing for $621,000; Thomas Henkle, $400,000; Pat Hilliard, $410,000; and John Dillon, $300,000.

Named as defendants in the suit are the South San Francisco Classroom Teachers Association and its state and national organizations, and the American Federation of Teachers.

1 Held in Fights at Cap High

A fight broke out at noon Thursday between Pacifica and San Bruno students on the campus of Capuchino High School, resulting in the arrest of one 19-year-old, charged with possession of a switch blade knife.

Terry Lee Ellis was issued a misdemeanor citation for violation of a San Bruno city ordinance prohibiting the carrying of a switch blade knife on a school campus.

The incident marked the third time in two weeks that off-campus students have been involved in confrontations at Capuchino.

Police from Millbrae and San Bruno Thursday warned they would not tolerate the presence of students from other schools on the campuses of Capuchino and Crestmoor high schools.

San Bruno Police Lt. Jim Rego said off-campus students found at either of the schools would be arrested.

Police reported that on Wednesday six students from Oceana High School in Pacifica visited Capuchino to pick up their girl friends. They were confronted by a group of male students in the hallway of one of the Capuchino buildings.

The Capuchino students asked the Pacifica youths to leave, but they refused, police said.

A fight broke out and tables and chairs were hurled down the hallways. Police said the Oceana students left the campus, some with blackened eyes and cut lips.

Eight Oceana students visited Capuchino again Thursday, police said, "to avenge" the injuries sustained by their friends the previous day.

Police Officer Steve Cottini said he was patroling near Capuchino when he heard a broadcast to Millbrae police that there was a disturbance on the campus.

Cottini said he parked on a street above the campus and saw hundreds of students running toward an open area between the two Capuchino shop buildings.

The officer said he was told later by high school Asst. Principal Sam Johnson that a fight had broken out between the Oceana and Capuchino students and that at one point a youn man brandished a closed switch blade knife.

When school officials arrived to break up the fracas, Cottini said the Pacifica students ran off the campus. The officer said he followed two of them to a nearby drive-in restaurant, where they were handcuffed and returned to the school.

Six other police officers from Millbrae and San Bruno rounded up the other Pacifica students. The names of the Pacifica students were reported to Oceana Principal Joseph Conway. Cottini said it is expected that the students will be suspended.

Dad, Daughter Night Slated

New SamTrans Line in Daly City 'Hottest'

Daly City is the hottest new link in the San Mateo County Transit District's proposed county-wide system, Jim Gallagher, marketing and communications officer, said Thursday.

Speaking to an overflow crowd at a luncheon meeting of the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce, Gallagher said a survey of the system one day last week revealed there were some 5,500 riders in Daly City. That compared to about 4,500 riders in San Mateo City and fewer than 2,500 in Redwood City on the same day.

"No doubt about it, Daly City is our biggest producer of ridership revenues," Gallagher acknowledged.

The fledgling bus system, that only last month took over bus routes from the much criticized Northgate Transit Co., soon will be operating its fleet of red, white and blue buses along Mission Street in Daly City between San Francisco and Colma city limits.

Greyhound Corp. has provided transportation along Mission Street for years.

SamTrans buses will shuttle back and forth along the Daly City business corridor every 15 minutes, Gallagher said.

In the past, the corner of Templeton and Mission Streets was the so-called "pivot" for Northgate buses operating in the city.

SamTrans switched this important point to the Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) station on John Daly Drive.

Soon, an anticipated 774 buses will be running in and out of BART, Gallagher said.

Something has to be done to alleviate any congestion or confusion this mass of transportation congregating around the station might generate, the SamTrans official explained.

Studies are underway to spot and correct any deficiencies in the overall city system, including ways and means to guide the hundreds of buses into and out of the BART station area.

Also, according to Gallagher, routes 20C and 20J between BART and the Serramonte shopping center area also must be smoothed out to meet the demands of increased ridership.

"We're not 100 per cent perfect yet, but we certainly are trying. It was a real difficult thing putting this together to meet Daly City's needs," Gallagher said.

Delayed Housing Program Soon to Get Under Way

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The long-delayed federally-financed rehabilitation program aimed at upgrading Daly City homes soon may be a reality.

For three years the program has been mired in bureaucratic red tape, preventing its implementation.

Don Fleming, director of community development for the city, said last week he expects the City Council to act immediately on approving the program once an acceptable draft proposal from the consultants is received.

However, precisely when this would be, Fleming did not say.

Fleming works with an advisory committee made up of Conrad Pavellas, Harold Calder, Frank Karavos, Del Schembari, Julius Castelan and the Rev. Hosey Spears.

Madeleine Ongwarsky of the Bank of America is another volunteer who has offered her financial expertise in an effort to get the program rolling.

Hired as consultants to the committee, for $10,000, is Community Development Counselors Ltd. of San Francisco.

The committee twice has bounced back the consultant's draft proposal on implementation of the program.

Fleming says the project is complex and not only involves the lending of money at low (perhaps 6 per cent) interest for those qualifying, but also deals with an assortment of local, county, state and federal agencies.

The program is a lot more complicated than anyone at first thought it would be, Fleming said.

"In effect, the city is getting into the banking business," he explained.

He expects the consultants to submit a third proposal to the advisory committee within a week. Once the committee accepts it, Fleming will send the draft on to the City Council for action.

Why was the second proposal returned to the consultant?, Fleming was asked.

"It didn't say anything," he said, "We just weren't satisfied with it."

The federal government, through its Housing and Community Development Act, has earmarked $238,000 to Daly City for use in bringing homes up to code.

The loans also may be made for generally sprucing up a residence, Fleming explained.

Until a program is accepted by the council, the money will remain in the federal treasury — even though it belongs to Daly City.

Meanwhile, persons who feel they might qualify for low interest loans for fixing up homes may apply to Fleming now. They do not have to wait for final program approval to get on the list, Fleming said.

Here's how the city will work the program:

An applicant tells the city what the loan is intended for and requests a free inspection.

A building inspector is sent to the home to check remodeling of a kitchen, for example. While there, the inspector spots a dangerous health and safety hazard — such as a leaking sewer pipe.

Before the loan for remodeling the kitchen is approved, the health hazard must be corrected. The loan could include money for this correction, Fleming explained.

"We do not expect the homeowner to bring the entire home up to 1976 code, but we do want the health and safety hazards corrected," Fleming said.

Although it has not yet been resolved, the possibility of deferring loan payments until such time as the home is put up for sale or goes into probate, is being studied, Fleming said.

That would ease the financial burden on the elderly and those incapable of paying off the loan immediately, he pointed out.
